PARK SITES OF BISMARCK POINTED OUT

Judge Christianson Discussed Subject of Providing Recreation Places

SIBLEY ISLAND ONE

Quotes Prof. Waldron as Saying Bismarck Has Many Natural Advantages

"Proposed sites for parks are to some degree a matter of individual judgment although certain locations might have such superior advantages as to render them the choice of all," said Judge A. M. Christianson in presenting the subject of parks for Bismarck to the students at William Moore school. The school children are expected to use the material which Judge Christianson spoke to them about in writing essays for the Arthur and preservation of native life week essay.

"The first essential of a park system is a definite plan. It is as essential if not more so, than plans for the construction of a building," continued the speaker. "When there is a definite plan, whatever construction is done in any one year, however little it may be, counts in the end. Then every shrub or tree planted fits into the part of a harmonious whole."

"A modern park system consists of parks of varying sizes and designs, each adapted more or less for the particular service it is intended to render. In a general way, parks increase in size in proportion to the distance from the business center. Parks may be grouped into several classes, but for the purposes of this discussion, only three different classes will be considered:

Types of Parks.
First, large, natural parks, where little besides building of roads, and approaches, and clearing out of underbrush. Here would be placed the Sibley Island grant of the U. S. government to the city of Bismarck. Judge Christianson was more enthusiastic in his description of this beauty spot of nature, just within driving distance of the city, where birds are more plentiful than in other vicinities, where deer and lesser animal life abound, and where plant life, such as magnificent old oaks and oaks are twined in bitter-sweet and wild grape.

The matter of approach to this retreat of nature would be the most serious consideration, the speaker said. A pontoon bridge would perhaps be the least expensive means of crossing to the island, so closely connected with the early history of our community.

The speaker quoted Professor Waldron as saying that one of the sites along the Missouri river bluffs beyond the Country Club (including among other features the well developed outline of a former Indian village), is one of the most desirable park sites in the state, both as to view and ease of approach. Various Missouri river sites were recommended as excellent natural park projects. One of these is the proximity to family and individuals, namely the smaller plots of ground, comprising a few acres or less, such as "Custer Park."

Small Plot Parks.
It was suggested by the speaker that a triangle of ground adjacent to Custer park could be added for playgrounds with adequate equipment.

Reference was made to the five-acre plot in Lincoln, adjacent to the city by Henry Tatley. Another bit of recreational ground suggested was one on Hay Creek some three miles northeast of the capital grounds where there now exists a "swimming hole." The present site of the baseball park adjacent thereto is another possibility.

Judge Christianson advised the selection of other tentative sites by members of the junior high school in their proposed essays on the subject of parks for Bismarck.

A third class of parks are those already existing, such as school grounds that are calling for landscaping and development. These, in co-relation with the extensive Capitol park, with its already proposed plan of all important landscaping, could be an all important group in the future city park system of the city.

Lay Plans Now.
The answer to the question "when" should this park program be instituted, the speaker continued, is "now." This does not mean that a huge expensive program should be undertaken at once, and large tax burdens added; but it does mean that a park commission should be chosen; that a definite policy should be formulated, and a system planned, so that even if only one tree is planted it fits into the ultimate whole. It takes time to develop parks. Great buildings may be constructed in months, but nature takes years to construct shrubs and trees.

TEXAS ATHLETE TRIPS 107 HOURS ON DANCE FLOOR, A NEW RECORD

Beats Out Competitors in Endurance Dance Mania — Nothing New, Says Chicago Man Pointing That Modern Endurance Dancers Are Pikers.

BREAK OF DANCE.
Washington, April 23.—Police interference was necessary to stay the efforts of the last survivors of Washington's dance marathon, who after a mysterious disappearance during the night came back to a dance hall and announced they were continuing unbroken a performance they began last Wednesday. When the police broke up the dance the couple declared they were completing their 100th hour and had made a new world's record.

Dallas, Tex., April 23.—R. J. Newman, local athlete, and world-war veteran, quit the floor here at 3:52 o'clock this morning, having set a record of 107 hours and 2 minutes of dancing. He was allowed a 15-minute rest period each four hours of his endurance test, which started at 4:45 p. m. last Wednesday. Physicians pronounced Newman in "fairly good condition" when he quit this morning.

Craze Nothing New.
Chicago, April 23.—While dancing marathons have spread from coast to coast and records have been falling daily, almost hourly, health authorities here and in other cities casting about for law and arguments against the craze have been led to wonder if dance history is to repeat itself.

In a book entitled "The Dancing Mania of the Middle Ages," J. F. D. Hecker, a physician, points out that non-stop dancing is not new. According to his story, the recent antics of girl dancers in New York, Cleveland, Dallas and elsewhere were mild compared to some of the dancers back in the fourteenth and later centuries.

Recent records of 60, 80 and 90 hours of dancing compared very well with the record of a girl seen in his youth by Felix Plater who lived between the years 1530 and 1614. Plater wrote that the girl danced for a month.

During these manias of dancing peasants left their plows, artisans their tools and housewives their duties to join the revels. At Aix La Chapelle in 1574 crowds formed circles in the streets and danced until they fell from exhaustion.

BOY SCOUTS LEGION GUESTS

Will be Entertained by Lloyd Spetz Post Wednesday Evening

Boy Scouts of the city will be guests of the Lloyd Spetz Post, American Legion, here Wednesday night. Legion posts in various parts of the country are cooperating with those in charge of Scout work.

The Boy Scouts will meet at their respective headquarters at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night and march to the Legion hall. The Legion meets promptly at 8 p. m.

Each of the Boy Scout troops will provide stunts for the evening. They will be in charge of J. J. MacLeod. The Legion quartet will sing and Legion members also will provide stunts. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion will serve lunch.

Supreme Court Judge W. L. Nuesle will talk to the assembly.

Girl Released From Minot Jail

Minot, N. D., April 23.—Evelyn Reelaco, 18, of Hibbing, Minn., was released from county jail where she has been held since February 7, as a material witness in the white slave action against Grover Hoose also of Hibbing. The arrangements for the girl's release were perfected by federal authorities. Hoose will be committed to the Grand Forks jail to wait trial.

GERMAN OFFER AN INVENTION, POINCARÉ SAYS

Premier Denies That Allies Rejected 30 Billion Marks Offer

HELD FOR EFFECT
Declares that German Invention Story to Appear Socialist

Paris, April 23.—Premier Poincaré, speaking in the town of Void yesterday asserted that the offer of thirty billion marks which Baron von Rosenberg, Germany's foreign minister, recently told the Reichstag was rejected by the allies without a hearing in the Reichstag, was never made and was "invented for the occasion."

"If such an amount is now named," the premier said "it is doubtless an attempt to please the German socialists who suggested it."

"Admitting for the sake of argument that Baron von Rosenberg told the truth," Mr. Poincaré asked, "what would follow?" and thus answered his own question.

"That Germany, after formally admitting her indebtedness of one hundred thirty-two marks in May, 1921, and after having obtained in return for this admission the concession that the Ruhr should not be occupied, deigned in January, 1923, to offer the allies less than a quarter of the sound sum promised by her and fixed by the reparations commission."

URGES NORMAL WHEAT SOWING

Duis Says it Would be Mistake to Cut Acreage

Grand Forks, N. D., April 23.—"Northwest farmers this year have an unusually good opportunity to realize splendid gains on wheat, providing they do not allow themselves to be stampeded into reducing acreage of this crop," said Geo. E. Duis, president of the North Dakota Wheat Growers association, in a recent interview.

"There is considerable propaganda floating around encouraging the farmers in the spring wheat area to reduce production of wheat with the idea of stimulating prices. As a general proposition that may appear to be sound, but this year in particular, in view of present conditions in the winter wheat areas, it would seem to me to be very foolish to reduce the acreage of this crop in the northwest," Mr. Duis pointed out.

"Information at hand indicates that the winter wheat crop of the south central states, will be much below normal due to extreme drought and high winds and other adverse conditions."

FLOOD PERIL HAS PASSED

Winnipeg, April 23.—The flood situation in Portage la Prairie, is improved. It was learned today. Any further serious trouble is believed to have been averted. The Assiniboine river still is overflowing.

OIL LOOMS AS BIG QUESTION AT NEW PARLEY

Allied and Turkish Delegations Firm as New Conference Begins

TURKS SUPPORT FRENCH

Will Stand With Them Against British Concessions, They Say

Lausanne, April 23.—The question of the Near Eastern oil fields, especially those covered by the Chester concessions, is in the foreground today as the Allied and Turkish delegations meet in another effort to draft a peace treaty acceptable to both sides.

Whether the general subject of concessions comes before the conference formally seems to depend on the success of direct negotiations between British and French concession holders, and the Turkish government, which were advised by the allies when they agreed to detach economic questions from the treaty. France, it is believed, will probably insist on the right accorded her in 1911 by the former Turkish government and the British delegation has let it be known that it will support the French claim in the event the issue is brought before the conference.

Delegates here understand that the United States, through her representative, Joseph C. Grew, will continue to support the open shore policy.

BOYS BAND OF ST. MARY'S TO APPEAR SOON

First Public Concert of New Organization Within 3 Weeks

DEVELOPED RAPIDLY

The St. Mary's School band, composed of boys, will give its first public concert in about three weeks, Father Slag, director and organizer of the band, said today. The band has developed remarkably since the organization and instruction was begun four months ago.

The band has 22 pieces, but later on the membership will be increased to 40. The band is planned as a permanent organization in connection with St. Mary's school.

Uniforms will be ordered, probably in about three weeks. They will be military uniforms, either khaki or sailor blue.

The Knights of Columbus council has undertaken to sponsor the band. All of the instruments were purchased for the members of the band, and it is planned to follow this policy in enlarging the organization.

Father Slag's plans for the future include also the development of a fine school orchestra, with the boys in the band and other fine musicians in the school to make up the orchestra. For the time being the major effort is devoted toward bringing the band to a high standard for juvenile bands.

QUAKE FELT IN CALIFORNIA

San Bernardino, Calif., April 23.—A distinct earthquake was felt at Patton and Redlands near here this morning at 1:15 o'clock. Redlands reported dishes had been broken. At Patton the shock was said to have been pronounced but no damage was reported. No earthquake was felt here.

THREE KILLED IN CAVE-IN

Raleigh, N. C., April 23.—Three persons were killed when a talc mine owned by the Standard Mine Co. in Moore county caved in today, according to information received by Norfolk, Southern railway officials here from their agent at Hemp.

PLANS READY FOR GRADING OF ALL CREAM

Four Graders Are Named By Reynolds to Supervise Law's Operation

STATIONS INCREASE

Department Finds One-Third More Stations Buying Cream in One Year

Machinery is complete today for putting in effect a system of buying and selling cream on grades, beginning May 1, according to W. F. Reynolds, state dairy commissioner.

Four graders were named to supervise the new system, they being Henry C. Fink of Werner; F. X. Dempsey and E. H. Pierce of Bismarck and John G. Neasche of the University of Minnesota. They will "go to school" at Jamestown on April 30 and May 1 and then be assigned to territory. They will rotate from one to another of four cream grading districts, three including North Dakota buying stations, and one Minnesota buying station. In addition a man will be deputized at each creamery.

In revising lists of creameries throughout the state for the purpose of putting the system into effect it was found that there are 1175 cream buying stations in North Dakota, representing an increase of about 33 percent in the number of stations in one year, Mr. Reynolds said.

"The new cream grading regulations will mean a big saving yearly to the farmers of North Dakota who are producing No. 1 cream," Mr. Reynolds declared. "A premium of four cents will be paid for No. 1 cream over No. 2 cream, and every farmer who uses ordinary precautions can secure the premium price. The majority of farmers already market No. 1 cream by putting in cooling tanks on the farm, an excellent quality of cream may be produced even in the hottest summer months."

Onion and other weed flavored cream is classified as rejected and will be bought at a 25 percent discount under No. 2, the dairy commissioner said.

The onion flavor, he said, cannot be eliminated in butter. Approximately 50 percent of such loss may be prevented by keeping the morning cream separate from the night cream, according to Mr. Reynolds, because cows milked in the early morning usually have not pastured for hours and by that time the gases causing the onion flavor have passed off the body. The night cream also may be made comparatively free from onion flavor if cow is taken off pasture several hours before milking, he said. Other methods may be used making it comparatively easy to put practically all cream in No. 1 grade, he said.

CONVICT LOSER IN HIGH COURT

Adolph Lehmann May Not Learn of Court's Decision

Adolph A. Lehmann may not learn that the supreme court today decided against him in an appeal in a foreclosure proceeding involving $24,300. Lehmann is an escaped convict, having fled from the state penitentiary two years ago, where he was serving a term of 20 years imprisonment for murder.

Lehmann, after conviction of murder and while pending an appeal repurchased property from his brother-in-law, George A. Bahnmann, and with his wife, executed notes and mortgages for $24,300. Later in an action to foreclose, the defendant, being an escaped convict and whose whereabouts are unknown, his wife, through an attorney, answered with the assertion that the transaction was effected with fraud and for a real consideration of $14,300 only.

The supreme court, however, affirmed the decision of Judge Pugh in the St. Clair district court, giving the plaintiff judgment against Lehmann.

GERMANS TO MAKE OFFER?

London, April 23.—The Berlin correspondent of the Central News says he learns on good authority that the German government is preparing a positive offer to the allies. The government, he adds, will declare its readiness to negotiate and discuss the question of reparations and guarantees.

$14,000 MORE OF STOLEN BONDS FOUND IN MILL CITY COAL PILE

DEFENDS SALE OF N. P. PAPER AS NECESSARY

Editor of North Dakota Leader-Says Farmers Put Thousands Into Courier-News

WERE IN HARD SHAPE

Grand Forks, April 23.—That the Courier News, former Nonpartisan league publication of Fargo, cost more to operate than the farmers were able to pay and as a result they had been pouring thousands of dollars into the paper, is the reason given by N. S. Davies, editor of the North Dakota Leader, for the recent sale of the Courier News.

Mr. Davies, who was in Grand Forks last night from League headquarters, said: "In 1920 from June to November 15, I approved requisitions by the Courier amounting to over $50,000. In 1921 I do not know how much the Liederbach committee gave the Courier, but including donations the sum was over $30,000 that I do know of, and hence the amount was probably over $80,000. "Last year the largest part of all money raised by the state executive committee went to the Courier, and some members of the committee, especially O. A. Mattingly of Williston, advocated letting the Courier go as early as last September."

"Farmers had bought $50,000 worth of Courier News bonds a few years ago on the promise that they were as good as gold, and an additional loan of nearly $15,000 had been made by loyal men who had been assured that they would be protected."

Vain Effort Made

"It must be remembered that A. C. Townley turned the Courier News over to the state executive committee, and it was operated under the supervision of the present executive committee until nearly election time last fall when one morning Mr. Townley was advised that $1,000 was necessary or there would be no paper in the morning. The state executive committee announced that there were no more funds available. There was no place or person for Colonel Bloom, the manager of the Courier News, to look to but Mr. Townley, as the national committee had no funds available."

"Since that time over $10,000 has been poured into the Courier, in a vain effort to get it on a paying basis, but, with the summer months close at hand, and a deficit showing up every week, it was very evident that from $15,000 to $20,000 would be necessary to keep the paper going through the summer months only to have the plant on the verge of bankruptcy next fall."

Sold For Protection

"The Courier News was sold to protect the bond holders—those who had loaned the Courier money to keep it going the past year, and to protect creditors, all of whom will now be paid."

J. P. Dotson stated very decisively that he would not buy the Courier, unless he could get possession before the spring advertising season was over, and all other offers were just windy proposals with no money behind them.

"Mr. Townley did the same thing—he sold the Courier News and prevented a crash which would have left the Courier bond holders and creditors holding the sack."

All But $700 of Over $33,000 of Bonds Stolen From Wisconsin Bank Found Through Play of Small Boys in Rear of Modest Minneapolis Home.

Minneapolis, April 23.—Secret service agents yesterday recovered $14,000 more of bonds from a coal pile in the basement of the Bernard Abrahamson, home here, bringing total bonds recovered from the Maiden Rock, Wis., bank robbery to $33,275. Saturday Raymond Knutson, aged 7, discovered bonds in a glass jar while playing in an alley. Abrahamson is said to have taken bonds valued at $25,050 from the Knutson boy and to have $1,650 of bonds in a trunk and on a shelf in his home, which was later found in the day, and the remainder he hid in the coal pile. One $500 bond and two $100 bonds still are missing.

A dirty frail jar found in an alley by a small boy who broke it and gave the "pretty colored paper" to his playmates, contained $19,275 in bonds stolen from the Bank of Maiden Rock, Maiden Rock, Wis., on January 11 last.

The jar was found by Raymond Knutson, 7 years old, lying between a sleigh and a garage. How long the bonds had been concealed in their unique hiding place and by whom they were placed there, probably never will be known.

Young Knutson was playing ball with several other youths when he found the jar. He broke the glass container and when the roll of bonds fell out, he distributed it among the youngsters. He did not keep any for himself.

One of the boys, Irving Speigel, 12, got $7,625 worth of bonds. In true pirate style, he buried his "loot" in a vacant lot. Today he dug it up, took it down town to the First National bank and offered to sell it. Bank officials called detectives and secret service men.

TABERT PROBE BRINGS ACTION BY GOVERNOR

Irregularities of Official Paid By Lumber Company to Be Investigated

EVIDENCE STARTLING

Story of Jailor on Actions of Sheriff Told to Legislators

The Legislative investigation committee in the Tabert case, late today promised recommendations to abolish the convict leasing system and corporal punishment, the immediate removal of Sheriff James of Leeson county and the establishment of the merit system for convicts and to permit time off for good behavior.

Tallahassee, April 23.—Action by Gov. Hardee, toward bringing investigation of the alleged irregularities in the office of J. R. Jones, sheriff, and B. E. Willis, county judge of Leon county, as charged by Asst. Atty. General Grimson of North Dakota through evidence brought out in the legislative investigation of the death of Martin Tabert in a convict camp was expected to assume definite form today.

The high water mark in the number of lashes alleged to have been administered to Martin Tabert, North Dakota youth, who died while serving as a convict in a private lease camp at Clara, Fla., marked the testimony presented Saturday to the joint legislative committee investigating reported brutalities to prisoners.

At 5 o'clock, a former guard at the Putnam Lumber company, where Tabert died 14 months ago, said he counted 139 blows struck by Walter Higginbotham, whipping boss, now under indictment of first degree murder in connection with the Dakota's death.

Higginbotham testified Thursday that he hit Tabert ten "gentle" blows and that the boy was able to return to work the following day.

Two Stories About Funeral

Other witnesses testified today that they prepared the body for burial and that Arthur Johnson, a former convict, said he acted as a pallbearer and stated that the body was laid away across the river from Dixie, in Taylor county, at an isolated spot and in a hole filled with water. Witnesses for the lumber company have previously testified that Tabert was buried at Mingo cemetery near Clara, Florida, amid the singing of hymns by townspeople and that an itinerant preacher officiated.

The committee at the request of representatives for the lumber company, took under advisement a trip to Clara in an effort to get straight the conflicting versions of the funeral.

J. W. Jackson, who testified before the Madison county grand jury which indicted Higginbotham, identified himself as a former guard at the lumber camp and testified that on the night Tabert died, he was one of the men ordered by Higginbotham to prepare the body for burial. The witness said there were many bad lacerations on the face and head.

Body Was Bloody
Tom Pope, a negro, said he served a sentence at the logging camp for running away from a turpentine camp. Pope said he saw Tabert whipped, was with him when he died and was one of those who bathed him preparatory for burial. The blood from his wounds had seeped through his night clothes and the bed sheet looked as if a piece of "bloody beef" had lain on it.

W. W. Matthews, former steel gang foreman at the camp, thought such an hour before he appeared before the grand jury. He said the man saw given 117 blows by Higginbotham was Tabert, but that he was in an "argument" with another man who witnessed it, named Reeves, just before his appearance before the committee and had come to the conclusion that it was a boy called "South Carolina" Boatright who received that flogging.

In the 13 months he was employed by the company, he said he saw virtually every one of the some 200 convicts whipped and not one of his knowledge was held to the regular 50 or 60 blows. He based his first opinion that it was Tabert he had seen whipped on the fact that he saw Tabert after death and his head was bruised and lacerated and his nose broken. It was frequently the practice for Higginbotham to place his foot on the neck of the victim, he testified.

"The first essential of a park system is a definite plan. It is as essential as not more so, than plans for the construction of a building," continued the speaker. "When there is a definite plan, whatever construction is done in any one year, however little it may be, counts in the end. "A modern park system consists of parks of varying sizes and designs, each adapted more or less for the particular service it is intended to render. Various Missouri river sites were recommended as excellent nature park projects. One of these would include Appa creek for swimming and wading.

There has also been some suggestion that a park of considerable size might be developed beyond the Missouri river as an inter-city park, lying as it does between Bismarck and Mandan.

A second class of parks are those perhaps more useful to the public because of their proximity to families and individuals, namely the smaller plots of ground, comprising a few acres or less, such as "Custer Park."

Small Plot Parks.
It was suggested by the speaker that a triangle of ground adjacent to Custer park could be added for playgrounds with adequate equipment.

Reference was made to the five-acre plot in Lincoln addition, presented to the city by Henry Tatley. GERMAN OFFER AN INVENTION, POINCARÉ SAYS

Premier Denies That Allies
Rejected 30 Billion Marks
Offer

HELD FOR EFFECT

Declares that German Invents
Story to Appease
Socialist

Paris, April 23.—Premier Poincaré, speaking in the town of Void yesterday asserted that the offer of thirty billion marks which Baron von Rosenberg, Germany's foreign minister, recently told the Reichstag was rejected by the allies without a hearing last January, was never made and was "invented for the occasion."

"If such an amount is now named," the premier said "it is doubtless an attempt to please the German socialists who suggested it."

"Admitting for the sake of argument that Baron von Rosenberg told the truth," Mr. Poincaré asked, "what would follow?" and thus answered his own question:

"That Germany, after formally admitting her indebtedness of one hundred thirty-two billion marks in May, 1921, and after having obtained in return for this admission the concession that the Ruhr should not be occupied, deigned in January, 1923, to offer the allies less than a quarter of the sound sum promised by her and fixed by the reparations commission."

URGES NORMAL WHEAT SOWING

Duis Says it Would be Mistake to Cut Acreage

Grand Forks, N. D., April 23.—"Northwest farmers this year have an unusually good opportunity to realize splendid gains on wheat, providing they do not allow themselves to be stampeded into reducing acreage of this crop," said Geo. E. Duis, president of the North Dakota Wheat Growers association, in a recent interview.

"There is considerable propaganda floating around encouraging the farmers in the spring wheat area to reduce production of wheat with the idea of stimulating prices. As a general proposition that may appear to be sound, but this year in particular, in view of present conditions in the winter wheat areas, it would seem to me to be very foolish to reduce the acreage of this crop in the northwest," Mr. Duis pointed out.

"Information at hand indicates that the winter wheat crop of the south central states, will be much below normal due to extreme drought and high winds and other adverse conditions."

OIL LOOMS AS BIG QUESTION AT NEW PARLEY

Allied and Turkish Delegation
Firm as New Conference
Begins

TURKS SUPPORT FRENCH

Will Stand With Them
Against British Concession-
aries, They Say

Lausanne, April 23.—The question of the Near Eastern oil fields, especially those covered by the Chester concessions, is in the foreground today as the Allied and Turkish delegations meet in another effort to draft a peace treaty acceptable to both sides.

Whether the general subject of concessions comes before the conference formally seems to depend on the success of direct negotiations between British and French concession holders and the Turkish government, which were advised by the allies when they agreed to detach economic questions from the treaty. France, it is believed, will probably insist on the right accorded her in 1911 by the former Turkish government and the British delegation has let it be known that it will support the French claim in the event the issue is brought before the conference.

Delegates here understand that the United States, through her representative, Joseph C. Grew, will continue to support the open shore policy.

BOYS BAND OF ST. MARY'S TO APPEAR SOON

First Public Concert of New Organization Within
3 Weeks

DEVELOPED RAPIDLY

The St. Mary's School band, composed of boys, will give its first public concert in about three weeks, Father Slag, director and organizer of the band, said today. The band has developed remarkably since the organization and instruction was begun four months ago.

The band has 22 pieces, but later on the membership will be increased to 40. The band is planned as a permanent organization in connection with St. Mary's school.

Uniforms will be ordered, probably in about three weeks. They will be military uniforms, either khaki or sailor blue.

The Knights of Columbus council has undertaken to sponsor the band. All of the instruments were purchased for the members of the band, and it is planned to follow this policy in enlarging the organization. Father Slag's plans for the future include also the development of a fine school orchestra, with the boys in the band and other fine musicians in the school to make up the orchestra. For the time being the major effort is devoted toward bringing the band to a high standard for juvenile bands.

PLANS READY FOR GRADING OF ALL CREAM

Four Graders Are Named By Reynolds to Supervise
Law's Operation

STATIONS INCREASE

Department Finds One-Third
More Stations Buying
Cream in One Year

Machinery is complete today for putting in effect a system of buying and selling cream on grades, beginning May 1, according to W. F. Reynolds, state dairy commissioner.

Four graders were named to supervise the new system, they being Henry C. Fink of Werner; F. X. Dempsey and E. H. Pierce of Bismarck and John G. Keachie of the University of Minnesota. They will "go to school" at Jamestown on April 30 and May 1 and then be assigned to territory. They will rotate from one to another of four cream grading districts, three including North Dakota buying stations and one Minnesota buying station. In addition a man will be deputized at each creamery.

In revising lists of creameries throughout the state for the purpose of putting the system into effect it was found that there are 1172 buying stations in North Dakota, representing an increase of about 33 percent in the number of stations in one year, Mr. Reynolds said.

"The new cream grading regulations will mean a big saving yearly to the farmers of North Dakota who are producing No. 1 cream," Mr. Reynolds declared. "A premium of four cents will be paid for No. 1 cream over No. 2 cream and every farmer who uses ordinary precautions can secure the premium price. The majority of farmers already market No. 1 cream. By putting in cooling tanks on the farms an excellent quality of cream may be produced even in the hottest summer months."

Onion and other weed flavored cream is classed as rejected and will be bought at a 25 percent discount under No. 2, the dairy commissioner said.

The onion flavor, he said, cannot be eliminated in butter. Approximately 50 percent of such loss may be prevented by keeping the morning cream separate from the night cream, according to Mr. Reynolds, because cows milked in the early morning usually have not pastured for hours and by that time the gases causing the onion flavor have passed off the body. The night cream also may be made comparatively free from onion flavor if cow is taken off pasture several hours before milking, he said. Other methods may be used making it comparatively easy to put practically all cream in No. 1 grade, he said.

CONVICT LOSER IN HIGH COURT

Adolph Lehman May Not Learn of Court's Decision

Adolph A. Lehman may not learn that the supreme court today decided against him in an appeal in a foreclosure proceeding involving $24,300. Lehman is an escaped convict having fled from the state penitentiary two years ago, where he was serving a term of 20 years imprisonment for murder.

Lehman, after conviction of murder and while pending an appeal, repurchased property from his brother-in-law George A. Bahr, and with his wife, executed mortgages and mortgages for $24,300. Later in an action to foreclose, the defendant, being an escaped convict and whose whereabouts are unknown, his wife, through an attorney, answered with the assertion that the transaction was effected with fraud and for a real consideration of $14,300 only.

The supreme court, however, affirmed the decision of Judge Pugh in the Stark district court, giving the plaintiff judgment against Lehman.

DEFENDS SALE OF N. P. PAPER AS NECESSARY

Editor of North Dakota Leader Says Farmers Put Thousands Into Courier News

WERE IN HARD SHAPE

Grand Forks, April 23.—That the Courier News, former Nonpartisan league publication of Fargo, cost more to operate than the farmers were able to pay and as a result they had been pouring thousands of dollars into the paper, is the reason given by N. S. Davies, editor of the North Dakota Leader, for the recent sale of the Courier News.

Mr. Davies, who was in Grand Forks last night from League headquarters said: "In 1920 from June to November 15, I approved requisitions by the Courier amounting to over $50,000. In 1921 I do not know how much the Lieberbach committee gave the Courier, but including donations the sum was over $30,000 that I do know of, and hence the amount was probably over $80,000."

"Last year the largest part of all money raised by the state executive committee went to the Courier, and some members of the committee, especially O. A. Mattingly of Williston, advocated letting the Courier go as early as last September."

"Farmers had bought $30,000 worth of Courier News bonds a few years ago on the promise that they were as 'good as gold' and an additional loan of nearly $15,000 had been made by loyal men who had been assured that they would be protected."

Vain Effort Made
"It must be remembered that A. C. Townley turned the Courier News over to the state executive committee, and it was operated under the supervision of the present executive committee until nearly election time last fall when one morning Mr. Townley was advised that $1,800 was necessary or there would be no paper in the morning. The state executive committee announced that there were no more funds available. There was no place or person for Colonel Bloom, the manager of the Courier News, to look to but Mr. Townley, as the national committee had no funds available."

"Since that time over $10,000 has been poured into the Courier, in a vain effort to get it on a paying basis, but, with the summer months close at hand, and a deficit showing up every week, it was very evident that from $15,000 to $20,000 would be necessary to keep the paper going through the summer months only to have the plant on the verge of bankruptcy next fall."

Sold For Protection
"The Courier News was sold to protect the bond holders—those who had loaned the Courier money to keep it going the past year, and to protect creditors, all of whom will now be paid."

"J. P. Dotson stated very decisively that he would not buy the Courier, unless he could get possession before the spring advertising season was over, and all other offers were just windy proposals with no money behind them."

"Mr. Townley did the same thing—he sold the Courier News and prevented a crash which would have left the Courier bond holders and creditors holding the sack."

"I hold no brief for Mr. Townley; he has a happy faculty of talking for himself and I have made this statement because it has come to my notice that others, some of whom know better, have publicly stated that there was no immediate necessity for selling the Courier."

All But $700 of Over $33,000

of Bonds Stolen From Wisconsin Bank Found
Through Play of Small
Boys in Rear of Modest Minneapolis Home.

Minneapolis, April 23.—Secret service agents yesterday recovered $14,000 more of bonds from a coal pile in the basement of the Bernard Abrahamson, home here, bringing total bonds recovered from the Maiden Rock, Wis., bank robbery to $33,275. Saturday Raymond Knutson, aged 7, discovered bonds in a glass jar while playing in an alley. Abrahamson is said to have taken bonds valued at $25,650 from the Knutson boy and to have $11,650 of bonds in a trunk and on a shelf in his home, which was later found in the day, and the remainder he hid in the coal pile. One $500 bond and two $100 bonds still are missing.

A dirty fruit jar found in an alley by a small boy who broke it and gave the "pretty colored paper" to his playmate, contained $19,275 in bonds stolen from the Bank of Maiden Rock, Maiden Rock, Wis., on January 11 last.

The jar was found by Raymond Knutson, 7 years old, lying between a sleigh and a garage. How long the bonds had been concealed in their unique hiding place and by whom they were placed there, probably never will be known.

Young Knutson was playing ball with several other youths when he found the jar. He broke the glass container and when the roll of bonds fell out, he distributed it among the youngsters. He did not keep any for himself.

One of the boys, Irving Seigal, 12, got $7,625 worth of bonds. In true pirate style, he buried his "loot" in a vacant lot. Today he dug it up, took it down town to the First National bank and offered to sell it. Bank officials called detectives and secret service men.

TABERT PROBE BRINGS ACTION BY GOVERNOR

Irregularities of Official Paid
By Lumber Company to Be Investigated

EVIDENCE STARTLING

Story of Jailer on Actions of Sheriff Told to Legislators

The legislative investigation committee in the Tabert case today promised recommendations to abolish the convict leasing system and corporal punishment, the immediate removal of Sheriff Jones of Leon county and the establishment of the merit system for convicts and to permit time off for good behavior.

Tallahassee, April 23.—Action by Gov. Hardie, toward bringing investigation of the alleged irregularities in the office of J. R. Jones, sheriff, and B. F. Willis, county judge of Leon county, as charged by Assist. Atty. General Grimsom of North Dakota through evidence brought out in the legislative investigation of the death of Martin Tabert in a convict camp was expected to assume definite form today.

High Water Mark
The high water mark in the number of lashes alleged to have been administered to Martin Tabert, North Dakota youth, who died while serving as a convict in a private lease camp at Clara, Fla., marked the testimony presented Saturday to the joint legislative committee investigating reported brutalities to prisoners.

M. B. Bell, a former guard at the Putnam Lumber company where Tabert died 14 months ago, said he counted 119 blows struck by Walter Higginbotham, whipping boss, now under indictment of first degree murder in connection with the Tabert's death.

Higginbotham testified Thursday that he hit Tabert ten "gentle" blows and that the boy was able to return to work the following day.

Two Stories About Funeral
Other witnesses testified today that they prepared the body for burial and Arthur Johnson, a former convict, said he acted as a pallbearer and stated that the body was laid away across the river from Dixie, in Taylor county, at an isolated spot and in a hole filled with water. Witnesses for the lumber company have previously testified that Tabert was buried at Mingo cemetery near Clara, Florida, amid the singing of hymns by townspeople and that an itinerant preacher officiated.

The committee at the request of representatives for the lumber company, took under advisement a trip to Clara in an effort to get straight the conflicting versions of the funeral.

J. W. Jackson, who testified before the Madison county grand jury which indicted Higginbotham, identified himself as a former guard at the lumber camp and testified that on the night Tabert died, he was one of the men ordered by Higginbotham to prepare the body for burial. The witnesses said there were many bad lacerations on the face and head.

Body Was Bloody
Tom Pope, a negro, said he served a sentence at the logging camp for running away from a turpentine camp. Pope said he saw Tabert whipped, was with him when he died and was one of those who bathed him preparatory for burial. The blood from his wounds had seeped through his night clothes and the bed sheet looked as if a piece of "bloody beef had lain on it."

W. W. Matthews, former steel gang foreman at the camp, thought until an hour before he appeared before the committee that the man he saw given 117 blows by Higginbotham was Tabert, but that he got into an "argument" with another man who witnessed it, named Reeves, just before his appearance before the committee and had come to the conclusion that it was a boy called "South Carolina" Boatright who received that flogging.

In the 13 months he was employed by the company, he said he was virtually every one of the some 200 convicts whipped and not one to his knowledge was held to the regulation 10 blows, the flogging averaging around 50 or 60 blows. He based his first opinion that it was Tabert he had seen whipped on the fact that he saw Tabert after death and his head was bruised and lacerated and his nose broken. It was frequently the practice for Higginbotham to place his foot on the neck of the victim, he testified.

Ex-Whipping Boss Testifies
J. B. Burch testified from the viewpoint of an experienced whipping boss, now retired and farming in Taylor county. He worked for the Putnam company four weeks as official whipper, during which he administered 28 punishments, as his reports would show he said. Two whippings were at his own initiative, one for "general principles" (Continued on Page Three)

Ford Purchase Plan Met With Public Approval

Detroit, Mich., April 21.—The Ford Motor Company has just made a nation-wide announcement of the new Ford Weekly Purchase Plan which is accepted here as a characteristic of Ford action and a new and forward-looking move in the marketing of automobiles.

The plan is accepted here as a characteristic of Ford action and a new and forward-looking move in the marketing of automobiles. It is carried by the Company's dealer organization numbering over 9,000.

That it will benefit millions of families and have a most salutary effect upon the auto buying public goes almost without saying.

The Ford Weekly Purchase Plan will make it possible for additional millions to own and operate motor cars as under the terms of the plan as little as $5.00 will start anyone toward the ownership of a Ford car, Ford Truck or Fordson Tractor. This initial payment, as well as all subsequent payments, will be deposited to the customer's credit in a local bank and draw interest at the regular savings rate.

It extends to the whole family an opportunity to participate in the car purchase by permitting each member to contribute a small amount weekly to the plan with the wholesome effect of inculcating thrift and also demonstrating the benefits to be received from regular and consistent accumulation of funds to spend for things desired.

The price reduction of Ford Cars and Trucks which went into effect last October, bringing them to the lowest level in the history of the Ford Motor Company, opened a market of unusual proportions and with the inauguration of the Ford Weekly Purchase

Plan this market now becomes even more comprehensive.

HUDSON-ESSEX BREAKING ALL PRODUCTION RECORDS
Hudson and Essex are breaking all records for sales and output from all indications, the 1923 season will be at least 50 per cent more active for them than even the phenomenal year of 1922. And they are setting a new mark for all motorcars to shoot at by devoting 75 per cent of their production to enclosed cars—mostly the Hudson and Essex Coach which have enjoyed so remarkable a reception.

These are the high spots of a statement on "business" just made public at the Hudson plant in Detroit. Despite the increase in production, the Hudson and Essex plants are to keep the number of body-types to a minimum. In the line will be only seven cars in all—four Hudson and three Essex cars. These are:

HUDSON: Four and seven passenger open cars, Coach and Sedan, Cabriolet and Coupé.

ESSEX: Five passenger open car, Cabriolet and Coupé.

Tires With 500 Nail Holes Leak No Air

Mr. K. P. Milburn of Chicago has invented a new puncture-proof inner tube, which, in actual tests, was punctured 500 times without the loss of any air. Increase your mileage from 10,000 to 12,000 miles without removing this wonderful tube from the wheel, and the beauty of it all is that this new puncture-proof tube costs no more than the ordinary tube, and makes riding a real pleasure. You can write Mr. K. P. Milburn at 350 West 47th St., Chicago, as he wants them introduced everywhere. Wonderful opportunity for agents. If interested write him today.

"The motor car business is becoming much more stabilized," a factory statement declared. "The public is buying cars for utility, thus when a type of car is discovered which is useful to a very great proportion of motorists, it puts one-purpose cars out of the running."

"The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce has just completed a questionnaire which it addressed to 20,000 motorists. It discovered that 60 per cent of these expressed a definite preference for enclosed cars. Cars are wanted which are useful every day and in all seasons. It is our belief that more than 60 per cent of 1923 buyers will prefer enclosed cars, and that the trend toward this type will grow rapidly."

DODGE BROTHERS TYPE-A SEDAN

Its dependability is taken for granted—its economy of operation is proverbial.

Comment, as a rule, is directed to the richness of its fittings, and the dignified beauty of its coach work.

This beauty is not a superficial thing. It goes much deeper than mere external adornments.

Like all creations of genuine excellence, it emanates from the honest value which Dodge Brothers have built into the car.

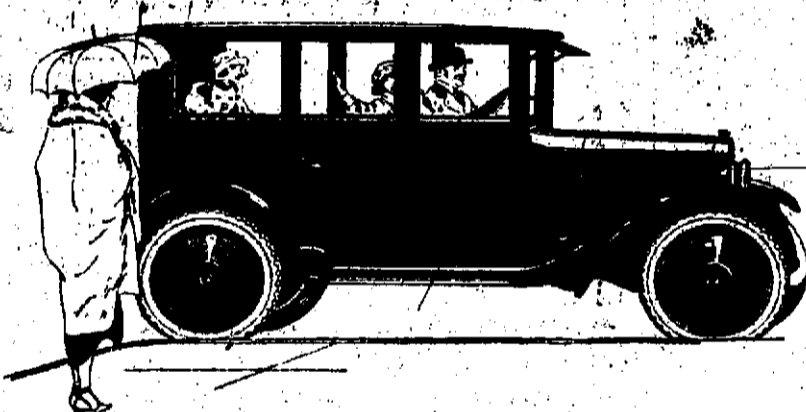

You sense it in the depth and comfort of the seats—richly upholstered in genuine mohair velvet. It makes itself known the instant you close the doors—which snap solidly shut, like the doors of a safe. It emanates unmistakably from every line and curve of the sturdy body.

It becomes most evident when you discover that in smart company, where a car of less distinction would appear at its worst, Dodge Brothers Type-A Sedan appears at its best.

BOARD TAKES OVER MERGER SALES PLANS

Will Proceed With Combine of Co-operative Organizations

TERRITORY IS DIVIDED

St. Paul, April 23.—Organization of the board of control which is to have advisory and regulatory powers over the three farmer-owned co-operative grain selling organizations of Montana, the Dakotas and Minnesota was completed at a meeting in Minneapolis Saturday, it was announced here today.

The temporary board named at a meeting in Fargo April 11 was succeeded by a board comprised of two members named by the directors of each organization involved, who in turn elected a seventh member.

The board now consists of Dwight H. Cressat of Lewistown, Mont. and M. E. Blair of Grand Forks, N. D., representing the Northwest Wheat Growers Association; J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and Thomas E. Cashman of Owatonna, representing the U. S. Grain Growers Sales Co., James A. Mahan and C. U. Somer, representing the Equity Co-operative Exchange. These members selected W. J. Dadin as the farmer member of the board. Mr. Reed was selected chairman and Mr. Somers secretary.

The purpose of the board is to investigate and broaden the scope of marketing activities in the North-western states and to correct the competitive condition which has developed among co-operative organizations.

The U. S. Grain Growers will represent the Equity Co-operative Exchange in the sale of grain on the Minneapolis board while the Equity will perform a like service for the U. S. Grain Growers at St. Paul and Duluth. The Northwest Wheat Growers will sell all pooled wheat from the spring wheat belt.

Boston, April 23.—A permanent injunction in restraining the Interstate Commerce Commission in carrying out its recent order providing for the sale of non-transferable and inter-changeable mileage tickets at a 20 per cent price reduction was issued today by Judge Brewster and Morris in federal district court. The injunction order was issued after a hearing of a petition of fifty eastern railroads opposed to the Interstate Commerce ruling.

Interstate commerce officials said today that the federal court order issued at Boston restraining the commission railroad mileage book installation from going into effect would probably be appealed at once to the supreme court for a final decision.

Five Factors in Complex Problem Vital to Entire Greek Population; American Red Cross is Active

Here are five living factors in the problem that three capable gentlemen are trying to solve. The children do not know that they are factors or problems. They probably think of themselves as just plain kids. The gentlemen, Col. William N. Haskell, American Red Cross Commissioner to Europe, Dr. A. Doxiades, the Greek Minister of Public Assistance and Major Edmund L. Daley, Colonel Haskell's deputy, realize that there are some 999,995 factors and that the problem presented is as serious as the faces of the children themselves.

The children are typical of the million refugees who were transplanted to Greece with little warning as an outcome of the Greco-Turkish war. Colonel Haskell and Major Daley represent the organization which since the emergency arose has been caring for, feeding, bathing, vaccinating, clothing and delousing the neediest of the refugees, as an emergency measure to alleviate the suffering which such a mass movement of population is bound to entail and to check the threatened epidemics which menaced all Greece.

The work accomplished was effective. Half a million of the dependent refugees were fed daily by the American Red Cross. Before the end of March more than $2,600,000 of American Red Cross funds had been expended to provide the food and medicines, the doctors and the nurses and to meet the other expenses of the operation. Judge John Barton Payne, Chairman of the American Red Cross says "American charity has prevented the refugees and the population which received them from experiencing disaster in the fullest sense of the word."

"If the refugees are to remain in Greece," Judge Payne continues "the time nears when the Greeks themselves should take over what must resolve itself into a lasting obligation. If return of the refugees to their homes or other satisfaction of their problem through redistribution is to be effected, the operation is outside the scope of Red Cross funds or our proper responsibility."

Consequently Colonel Haskell has been told to notify Dr. Doxiades and the other representatives of the Greek government, that the American Red Cross intends to arrange transfer to local authorities and charities of the work now conducted and financed by it in Greece.

The babies are the offspring of a rattlesnake and the nursery is a cage in the zoo.

Juvenile Band to Give Free
Concert at Audi-

Father Flanagan and his twenty boys from Omaha, Neb., have been booked for a performance at the Auditorium Monday and Tuesday, May 7 and 8. A matinee will be given at 4 p. m. for all school children, Monday, May 7. No children will be admitted at the evening performance.

From all reports this is one of the most interesting and entertaining shows to be seen here this season, consisting as it does of a twenty-piece boy band, an orchestra, boy soloists, orators and comedians. With the exception of Father Flanagan, the entire performance is given by boys.

Father Flanagan, who has been called "The man who has given his life for the cause of the homeless boy," will make a short address based on his investigations of juvenile delinquency in ten countries of the world. He is a recognized authority on boys and their problems.

This troupe has played the larger cities of Nebraska, Minnesota, South

Enthusiastic audiences have greeted the boys at every stop, and hundreds are unable to obtain admission nearly every night.

The boys travel in their own special car "Overlook"—one of the most fully equipped private cars turned out. It is a ten section car with an office and living room for Father Flanagan as well as a splendid kitchen and living quarters for the chef.

Father Flanagan's Boys' Home was started over five years ago to fill the needs of all homeless, abandoned and wayward boys and in its brief existence has already gained a national reputation. In that time it has cared for nearly 2,000 boys of every race, creed and color.

It is non-sectarian and non-prose-lyting, and is endorsed by prominent people of nearly every state. The concert will be free to the public.

Information brought to Bismarck by a local man returning from Lemmon, S. He said it gave evidence of oil, added that no stock sales were conducted on the day and that the company planned to drill the well down perhaps another 1,500 feet.

THE A. B. C.

--An Aid to Advertisers
Both Local and National

THE Audit Bureau of Circulations is an Association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies who are co-operating to standardize and verify circulation data, and thus place the buying of space on a basis of "Known Value."

The Bureau was established in 1914 and now numbers among its members the majority of the leaders in the publishing and advertising fields of the United States and Canada.

Twice a year the publisher makes a report to the Bureau showing total circulation and details of distribution by states, cities, towns, suburbs and rural districts; also subscription rates and facts about contests, premiums and club offers. Once a year these statements are audited by one of the Bureau's experts. The publisher-member agrees to permit examination by the Auditor of all records considered necessary by the Bureau.

By means of the A. B. C. audit reports, which are issued on all member-publications, the advertiser can analyze the circulation of a paper and determine its value to him as an advertising medium.

By patronizing A. B. C. papers, advertisers guard their own interests and also participate in this nation-wide movement to place advertising on a sound, business-like basis.

The Tribune is a member of the A. B. C. and would be pleased to submit a copy of the latest circulation report.

WOMEN MAY BE 7 DAYS A WEEK, IS DECISION

Holding that the women's hours of labor law in the state provides that women may work no more than 48 hours in one week, Justice W. S. Casselman yesterday afternoon dismissed a case brought against the Grand Pacific hotel of one of several similar complaints made in Bismarck.

States Attorney Allen opposed the interpretation of the law, asserting it plainly stated it was a violation to require women to work more than six days in any one week. He said effort would be made to get the matter in district court for interpretation.

N. D. ANSWERS STANDARD OIL

State's Method of Taxing Company Is Defended

Defense of the method of taxing foreign corporations under the state income tax law is contained in an answer filed in federal court today by C. C. Converse, state tax commissioner, and John Thorpe, assistant attorney general, in opposition to the suit of the Standard Oil company of Indiana attacking the method used.

Taxes for the years 1919, 1920 and 1921 of $275,788.96 are involved in the suit in addition to taxes for 1922, not yet formally assessed, of about $10,000. The oil company obtained a restraining order in federal court pending disposition of the case. The method used by the state, which the state's attorneys say is the method by law, is to base the tax upon the ratio the North Dakota business bears to the entire business of the company, applying this to the company's income to determine the profits arising in North Dakota. The oil company asserts its cost of doing business in North Dakota is higher than in other states, and therefore the income arising from North Dakota is less than the state calculates. The state holds that the state statute is of general application, and the tax is imposed uniformly upon all corporations, and that the method used by North Dakota is fair to all corporations.

"The talk that the subscription campaign was bringing in ample funds to keep the Courier going was the veriest tommy rot. True, subscriptions were coming in, but every one received was a liability, not an asset. The subscriptions were being sold for $5 each, while $1.50 was retained by P. L. Aarhus, and he was entitled to that much for the work he was doing, and that left $3.50 for the Courier. Any newspaperman knows that it costs more than to operate a daily paper for a year.

"Some honest people may criticize the sale of the Courier News but only when the facts in the case have been misrepresented. A. C. Townley, in this instance, pursued the only honorable course open. Some of the squawking loudest are vexed because the cash did not come; they seem to like failures; perhaps they profit by them."

he continued, but the others were occasioned by representatives of the working foreman. He sometimes gave 25 blows sometimes 15, sometimes only four or five.

"You see," he explained, "when the inspector state prisoner inspector came I had to give him a report showing the average number of whippings."

Burch said the blows given averaged about ten to a man. No copy of the prison regulations were posted on the company's premises that he knew of, he said, though he had seen copies. He had been official whipper for four camps but he really believed the strap at the Putnam camp was heavier than any he had ever seen. He estimated its weight to be about five or six pounds.

He was asked what would be the effect of 25 lashes on a man and he replied that it was according to who administered them.

In an effort to show that a collusion existed between Sheriff J. R. Jones and County Judge B. F. Willis both of Leon county, the prosecution counsel, Assistant Attorney General Grimmon and Kneeshaw, called Jerry M. Poppell former Leon county jailer, before the committee to testify as to the alleged wholesale number of arrests and convictions brought about after Sheriff Jones entered into an agreement with the Putnam Lumber company to furnish them prisoners at $20 a head.

Easy Bounding Up Prisoners

Poppell's testimony also was advanced to bear out the contention that Tabert was arrested, convicted, and leased to the lumber company where, after serving only a few weeks, he died, alleged to have been the result of a whipping administered by Walter Hugginbotham.

The former jailer who said he was in charge of the Leon jail for 28 years before being discharged for complaints about mistreatment of prisoners declared Sheriff Jones immediately after entering into the agreement with the lumber company issued orders to his deputies to "get busy for this means money for me."

Poppell testified Sheriff Jones began a crusade against "gamblers, hoboes and moonshiners" and would average from four to 10 arrests a day. Their chief field of operation was meeting freight trains and arresting men as fast as the train crews "would kick them off the cars."

The extensive drive became known to the hoboes, he said, so the sheriff and his deputies, including himself, went out at night to round up the hoboes.

Set Trap For Prisoners

They had a stand by the railroad tracks, he said, near where the trains would stop at a water tank. It was at this place that the men would get off the trains and take to the highway to get around Tallahassee. Poppell testified that Jones used two automobiles bringing them back full of prisoners each night.

"We would get back to the court house," testified Poppell, "late at night and on our way Sheriff Jones and we deputies would tell the prisoners the best thing for them to do would be to enter pleas of guilty. On our arrival at the court house some times as late as 10 o'clock at night, all of them who were willing to plead guilty were assigned."

"How would you get the county judge there at that time of night?" Senator John P. Stokes asked.

"Oh, he would be sitting there all the time with his deputy," Poppell replied.

"Did you ever get drunk yourself?" he was asked.

"Yes, I had no use lying about it," he replied.

"Then the sheriff was drunk, the deputies were drunk, you were drunk and the county judge was drunk?" asked Senator Stokes.

"Yes, sir."

"And you would gather there, all of you drunk and try people for being drunk?"

"Yes, sir."

"I thought this was a prohibition town," the senator observed.

"It would seem that it would be, right here at the capital," the witness agreed.

Later Poppell said he had seen Sheriff Jones take a gallon of condensed "moonshine" which the court had ordered destroyed, and empty its contents into another jug which the sheriff kept for himself.

"Then what would he do?" queried Senator Stokes.

"He would call the county clerk, Mr. Lang, out into the courtyard and ask him to watch while he destroyed the jug," declared Poppell.

"The jug full of water?" asked Senator Stokes.

Poppell laughed back the reply of "yes, sir."

Poppell was asked why he had not told Governor Hardee about how Sheriff Jones was conducting his office. He declared Sheriff Jones came to him and threatened to discharge him if he did tell.

"I had held the job of county jailer for 28 years," said Poppell, "and it was the only way I had to live. My wife and I lived in the jail and I had a boy born and raised there. I would not have known white to go to had been discharged."

"Then you just simply told the governor that the sheriff was all right," he was asked.

"Yes, sir, I just lied."

The questions related to an investigation to Sheriff Jones' office by the governor several months ago.

Later Senator Stokes asked Poppell if he had been sworn before the governor to tell the truth, and he said he had not.

"Did Sheriff Jones discharge you for being drunk?" Poppell was asked.

"No, sir, if he wanted to discharge me for drunkenness, he ought to have done it long before that," said Poppell.

Too Drunk To Hang Negroes

Poppell said he received a salary of $65 a month and witness fees as jailer. He added that he received witness fees and never attended the court, nor was he ever summoned to attend.

The former jailer told the committee of a whipping administered to a negro woman held in the jail on suspicion in connection with a local shooting case. Poppell declared Jones and two deputies, and he took the woman out in the woods and tied her across a tree stump and whipped her because she would not reveal certain information. Ten licks, he said, were given the woman and finally when she refused to talk, it was decided to hang her.

"One of the deputies, P. L. Barrigan, produced a rope from the automobile," said Poppell.

"We were all drunk and we stopped in the procedure to take another drink. Barrigan tied the rope around the negro's neck and when it came to throwing the rope over a tree limb, all of us were too drunk to climb, so we took her back to jail."

No statement of their activities during their visit here was made.

SPRING COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

This Simple Treatment Knocks A Cold Right Now.

Heed the warning—at first sign of a cold this spring, get busy and get rid of that cold. It's a simple thing if you take it in time. Send to the drug store for an ordinary jar of Muco Salve which sells for 25 cents.

Melt a little of this salve in a spoon and inhale the vapors which arise. This will clear the head, soothe the upper respiratory tract and give nature a chance to do all the inflamed membranes.

If cold has gotten the start on you, take a good dose of oil at bed time and rub Muco Salve thickly on chest, covering same with warm cloths, flannel preferably.

In the morning cold will probably be gone.

MOTHER

Keep Muco Salve On Hand At All Times for Family Use

It has always been a mother's job to guard the family health. Mother saves our lives every year. Colds, spring colds, are mother's greatest fear for they so often lead to grippe, influenza and pneumonia.

Don't wait for colds to come. Get a jar of Muco Salve from the drug list for a few cents and have it handy to use first time anyone sneezes.

Doctor's Advice

Your doctor will tell you the common cold is the forerunner of much sickness. He advises you to take every precaution against a cold and to treat your cold at once.

The "Muco Treatment," as some call it, offers the simplest remedy and probably easiest to use. It is pleasant and safe. Muco Salve contains certain healing elements like turpentine and menthol that give off a vapor, which, when inhaled through the nose, reach the upper respiratory tract—the seat of the trouble.

For deep seated chest colds get a bottle of Muco-Solvent (Liquid). This is the prescription of Dr. J. W. Giffen who is well remembered by the people of Neenah, Wis. As the name implies it is a dissolvent which disintegrates the mucous (phlegm) so that it can be expectorated. Muco-Solvent (Liquid) at 75 cents per bottle and Muco Salve at 25 cents per jar form a combination that usually relieves all kinds of colds.

Both are sold everywhere by all druggists. We are positive you can get it here—

Willis both of Leon county, the prosecution called Sheriff Jones, the present county jailer, before the committee to testify as to the alleged wholesale number of arrests and convictions brought about after Sheriff Jones entered into an agreement with the Putnam Lumber company to furnish them prisoners at $20 a head.

Busy Rounding Up Prisoners. Poppell's testimony also was advanced to bear out the contention that Tabert was arrested, convicted, and leased to the lumber company where, after serving only a few weeks, he died, alleged to have been the result of a whipping administered by Walter Higginbotham.

The former jailer who said he was in charge of the Leon jail for 28 years before being discharged for complaints about mistreatment of prisoners declared Sheriff Jones immediately after entering into the agreement with the lumber company issued orders to his deputies to "get busy for this means money for me."

Poppell testified Sheriff Jones began a crusade against "gamblers, hoboes and moonshiners" and would average from four to 10 arrests a day. Their chief field of operation was meeting freight trains and arresting men as fast as the train crews "would kick them off the cars."

The extensive drive became known to the hoboes, he said, as the sheriff and his deputies, including himself, went out at night to round up the hoboes.

Set Trap For Prisoners. They had a stand by the railroad tracks, he said, near where the trains would stop at a water tank. It was at this place that the men would get off the trains and take to the highway to get around Tallahassee, Poppell testified that Jones used two automobiles bringing them back full of prisoners each night.

"We would get back to the court house," testified Poppell, "late at night and on our way Sheriff Jones and we deputies would tell the prisoners the best thing for them to do would be to enter pleas of guilty. On our arrival at the court house some times as late as 10 o'clock at night, all of them who were willing to plead guilty were arraigned."

"How would you get the county judge there at that time of night?" Senator John P. Stokes asked.

"Oh, he would be sitting there all the time with his demijohn," "His what?" Senator Stokes queried.

Court Got Intoxicated. "His demijohn, with which he used to get drunk," Poppell replied.

"Did you ever get drunk yourself?" he was asked.

"Yes, 'taint no use lying about it," he replied.

"Then the sheriff was drunk, the deputies were drunk, you were drunk and the county judge was drunk?" asked Senator Stokes.

"Yes, sir."

"And you would gather there, all of you drunk and try people for being drunk?"

"Yes, sir."

"I thought this was a prohibition town," the senator observed.

"It would seem that it would be, right here at the capital," the witness agreed.

Later Poppell said he had seen Sheriff Jones take a gallon of confiscated "moonshine" which the court had ordered destroyed, and empty its contents into another jug which the sheriff kept for himself.

"Then what would he do?" queried Senator Stokes.

Destroyed Water Jug. "He would call the county clerk, Mr. Lang, out into the courtyard and ask him to watch while he destroyed the jug," declared Poppell.

"The jug full of water?" asked Senator Stokes.

Poppell laughed back the reply of "yes sir."

Poppell was asked why he had not told Governor Hardee about how Sheriff Jones was conducting his office. He declared Sheriff Jones came to him and threatened to discharge him if he did tell.

"I had held the job of county jailer for 28 years," said Poppell, "and it was the only way I had to live. My wife and I lived in the jail and I had a boy born and raised there. I would not have known where to go if I had been discharged."

"Then you just simply told the governor that the sheriff was all right," he was asked.

"Yes, sir, I just lied."

The questions related to an investigation to Sheriff Jones' office by the governor several months ago.

Later Senator Stokes asked Poppell if he had been sworn before the governor to tell the truth, and he said he had not.

"Did Sheriff Jones discharge you for being drunk?" Poppell was asked.

"No, sir, if he wanted to discharge me for drunkenness, he ought to have done it long before that," said Poppell.

Too Drunk To Hang Negroes. Poppell said he received a salary of $65 a month and witness fees as jailer. He added that he received witness fees and never attended the court, nor was he ever summoned to attend.

The former jailer told the committee of a whipping administered to a negro woman held in the jail on suspicion in connection with a local shooting case. Poppell declared Jones and two deputies and he took the woman out in the woods laid her across a tree stump and whipped her because she would not reveal certain information. Ten licks, he said, were given the woman and finally when she refused to talk, it was decided to hang her.

"One of the deputies, P. L. Barrineau, produced a rope from the automobile," said Poppell.

"We were all drunk and we stopped in the procedure to take another drink. Barrineau tied the rope around the negro's neck and when it came to throwing the rope over a tree limb, all of us were too drunk to climb, so we took her back to jail."

The injunction order was issued after a hearing of a petition of fifty eastern railroads opposed to the Interstate Commerce ruling.

Five Factors in Complex Problem Vital to Entire Greek Population; American Red Cross is Active

Here are five living factors in the problem that three capable gentlemen are trying to solve. The children do not know that they are factors or problems. They probably think of themselves as just plain kids. The gentlemen, Col. William N. Haskell, American Red Cross Commissioner to Europe, Dr. A. Doxiades, the Greek Minister of Public Assistance and Major Edmund L. Daley, Colonel Haskell's deputy, realize that there are some 999,999 factors and that the problem presented is as serious as the faces of the children themselves.

The children are typical of the million refugees who were transplanted to Greece with little warning as an outcome of the Greek-Turkish war. Colonel Haskell and Major Daley represent the organization which since the emergency arose has been caring for, feeding, bathing, vaccinating, clothing and delousing the neediest of the refugees, as an emergency measure to alleviate the suffering which such a mass movement of population is bound to entail and to check the threatened epidemics which menaced all Greece.

The work accomplished was effective. Half a million of the dependent refugees were fed daily by the American Red Cross. Before the end of March more than $2,000,000 of American Red Cross funds had been expended to provide the food and medicines, the doctors and the nurses and to meet the other expenses of the operation. Judge John Barton Payne, Chairman of the American Red Cross says "American charity has prevented the refugees and the population which received them from experiencing disaster in the fullest sense of the word."

"If the refugees are to remain in Greece," Judge Payne continues "the time nears when the Greeks themselves should take over what must resolve itself into a lasting obligation. If return of the refugees to their homes or other solution of their problem through redistribution is to be effected, the operation is outside the scope of Red Cross funds or our proper responsibility."

Consequently Colonel Haskell has been told to notify Dr. Doxiades and the other representatives of the Greek government, that the American Red Cross intends to arrange transfer to local authorities and charities of the work now conducted and financed by it in Greece.

The babies are the offspring of a rattlesnake and the nursery is a cage in the zoo.

THE A. B. C. --An Aid to Advertisers Both Local and National

THE Audit Bureau of Circulations is an Association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies who are co-operating to standardize and verify circulation data, and thus place the buying of space on a basis of "Known Value."

The Bureau was established in 1914 and now numbers among its members the majority of the leaders in the publishing and advertising fields of the United States and Canada.

Twice a year the publisher makes a report to the Bureau showing total circulation and details of distribution by states, cities, towns, suburbs and rural districts; also subscription rates and facts about contests, premiums and club offers. Once a year these statements are audited by one of the Bureau's experts. The publisher-member agrees to permit examination by the Auditor of all records considered necessary by the Bureau.

By means of the A. B. C. audit reports, which are issued on all member-publications, the advertiser can analyze the circulation of a paper and determine its value to him as an advertising medium.

By patronizing A. B. C. papers, advertisers guard their own interests and also participate in this nation-wide movement to place advertising on a sound, business-like bases.

The Tribune is a member of the A. B. C. and would be pleased to submit a copy of the latest circulation report.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

FARMERS' LEGISLATION

If legislation alone is the curative for all agricultural ills, agriculture in the Nation and in the Northwest should soon prosper. Almost every legislature in an agricultural state has devoted much time this past winter to farm matters, and agricultural credit legislation formed one of the big chapters in the history of the 66th Congress. Minnesota's legislature, just ended, added many laws designed to aid agriculture, to the statute books.

The Gopher legislature enacted a rural credits law designed to permit long-time loans on money secured through issuance of state bonds. Bills for co-operative farm and livestock marketing associations were enacted. The first and the one generally regarded as the more important is the so-called Sapiro plan—the plan followed by California fruit growers and Southern tobacco growers, modified to meet conditions in a grain-growing area. Its chief provision is a legally binding contract which requires the grower member to deliver his product to the marketing association if he has agreed to do so. This is intended to prevent outside firms from causing farmers to break away from a pooling plan by offering higher prices. The second co-operative bill is an amendment to the 1921 law permitting the organization of co-operative associations by those engaged in any line of business. A separate law permits the formation of livestock shipping associations, and they may sell stock in associations without interference by the state securities commission.

Dairy farmers secured a law prohibiting the manufacture of butter substitutes containing butterfat and other laws. Several joint resolutions were passed, including a memorial to Congress to return control of the South St. Paul livestock yards to Minnesota, and to modify federal Grain Grading regulations.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the agricultural legislation in Minnesota is that support was given to the principle of co-operative marketing, as contrasted with state socialism and state capitalism. A bill to establish state-owned elevators failed. Minnesota has made great strides in laying the way for co-operative marketing. The recent agreement of the principal farm organizations operating marketing pools in the Northwest is another indication of conviction upon the part of many students of farm problems that the way to more orderly marketing lies through the co-operative marketing route, where the success and the policy of the organizations will be controlled by the farmers.

DANCING CHAMPS

What is your private opinion of these girls who wear out several orchestras and a half dozen male partners apiece to get the title, "endurance dancing membership of the world"? It's an interesting but futile pursuit that will take its health toll later in the young dancers' lives. Over-exertion always presents its bill. And it always collects—in full. Men run marathons, collapse at the end. The crowd cheers. No one thinks the runners are "cuckoo" for over-exerting.

Other men over-exert, contesting to see which can lift the heaviest weights or bend the thickest iron bar over the chest. Crazy? It's never suggested. But when the girls come forth to demonstrate endurance, you hear people on all sides grunting and sniffling. Envious, perhaps. But more striking is the demonstration that what's sauce for the goose is not sauce for the gander.

This bit of psychology is evident all through life in its various ramifications. Man seems entitled to make almost any kind of a jackass of himself, without question. Woman, however, is quickly ridiculed.

There's just as much sense in endurance dancing as there is in long-distance running, weight lifting, auto racing—or even baseball, for that matter.

Doctors interested about the women dancers "wearing out" partner after partner, disagree as to whether it indicates that woman has more endurance than man. However, she has. When a man and his wife get into a run of bad luck, the wife nearly always is last to "throw the sponge." Often, of course, this is because she doesn't realize as thoroughly as her mate, the extent of the trouble they're facing. Not one man in 10 could endure the anguish of childbirth without "giving up"—killing himself or getting drunk.

The endurance dancing craze started in England several months ago. First only a few dancers took it up. Then whole crowds caught the spirit. We'll probably have a repetition—people going in a mob to a continuous dance, trying to trip the light fantastic all night or longer.

Freak dancing waves come periodically. Epidemic insanity—social hysteria, as the psychologists call it. Europe in 1374 had a dancing craze that wound up with people dancing in the streets until they fell screaming and foaming at the mouth.

An Italian doctor decided that the dancing disease was due to the bite of a tarantula, large spider. On the theory of setting a fire to stop an advancing forest fire, he invented a dance which he prescribed to his patients—the tarantella dance. Confidentially, we believe that 24 hours of endurance dancing would cure us of dancing for all time.

WJZ

WJZ, the broadcasting station at Newark, N. J., will not broadcast any more copyrighted music. Royalties of $200 to $5000 apiece are demanded by the authors, composers and publishers who own the copyrights. They organized recently, alarmed because radio is cutting down their sales of sheet music and phonograph records.

WJZ should broadcast the old-time stuff. It's better, and very popular—judging from the way it brings down the house in vaudeville. WJZ's action probably is the beginning of the end of radio jazz.

LAST REMARKS OF THE IOWA

"This being shot at is no novelty for me. In that I have the advantage of these big young ships that are going to finish me, I was first to see it when he came out of the bottle at Santiago twenty-five years ago. I was first to fire at the Spaniards and I gave and took more than any other ship in our fleet."

"In this battle I can't shoot. I can run away, but that isn't my fancy. I'm glad old Bob Evans isn't here to see me run from these newfangled ships. He would want to turn my twelve inch guns against the sixteens of the Maryland and the fourteens of the Mississippi and have it out with anybody who shot at me."

"Well, they've been trying those fancy thin-walled projectiles on me and they won't do. Now the Mississippi is going to use the real thing at nine miles. My wireless steering outfit is broken and I'm glad of it. Flight is unbearable, even when it's for your country's good."

"Yes, it's the finish. I can hear the band play and they're firing a salute. Twenty-one guns sounds good to a tired old battleship, after all. And this Pacific water is warm; not as hot as it was at Santiago that third of July, but comfortable. Deep, too; seventy fathoms; nobody ever to bother me again."

"There's only one thing I regret about it all. I'm not flying the flag. But, of course, I couldn't, because they wouldn't shoot at me if the flag was there. Everybody has to make some sacrifices. This is for the good of the service."

"There's one of those airplanes buzzing overhead. Twenty-five years ago, when I was the finest ship in the American navy, we never saw an airplane. And twenty-five years from now, when they take the Mississippi and the Maryland out to sea to use as guinea pigs, the airplane will be the boss of the ocean."

"Down by the stern and—sinking. I wonder if anybody will tell the Oregon?"—Baltimore American.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

After Nick rescued the soldier from drowning in Bing-Bang Land, there was no fighting for a few days.

It was necessary to wait until the wooden soldiers and tin soldiers had recovered.

The Tinker Man was very busy in his hospital. I tell you, what with plugging up wounds with bits of new wood (or soldering them with lead, if the wounded soldier happened to be made of tin, instead of wood), and gluing on arms and legs and even heads. And painting! You should have seen the amount of paint he used up.

The soldiers in Bing-Bang Land, once wounded, had to go to bed with their clothes on and every single one of them from General Gold Braid down had to have a new uniform pointed on when he was ready to go back to his regiment.

One by one, however, all the toy soldiers were cured, and even General Gold Braid was quite himself again.

"Now I won't have to be general any more," said Nick taking off his cocked hat and unbuckling his sword.

"I'm ever so much obliged for generaling for me while I was away," said General Gold Braid, "and I should like you to stay with the army. What do you prefer?"

"I'd like to be an aviator," said Nick, quickly.

"Well, I declare!" cried the Tinker Man who was listening.

"Why, we declare!" said all the soldiers standing near.

"What are you all declaring about?" asked Nick in surprise.

"We never thought of such a thing!" answered the Tinker Man. "There isn't such a thing as an airplane in Bing-Bang Land. We forgot about them. I'll send a telegram to my brother, the Toy Maker, at once to ship us two brand new ones. One for the wooden soldiers and the other for the tin soldiers. You may run whichever one you like!"

AT THE MOVIES

Today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday, the many local admirers of Charles Ray will have the opportunity of seeing him in what promises to be his masterpiece, if time, care, and a great story count for something: a cinema version of the intensely popular stage play, "A Tailor Made Man." For this is the costliest production Charles Ray has ever made, and is in keeping with his announced policy of two super-productions a year for United Artists. In fact, "A Tailor Made Man" is Ray's first screen play under his new alignment.

According to critics who previewed this photoplay, Charles Ray has been provided with a vehicle which allows him full scope for his ever delightful humor, wit, and tenderness. "A Tailor Made Man" is said to rank with the highest achievements of the motion picture art.

The supporting cast is of all-star calibre, and includes such artists as Ethel Grandin, Jacqueline Logan, Thomas Ricketts, Douglas Gerrard, Victor Pote, Thomas Jefferson, Stanton Heck, Edith Chapman, Kate Lester and Frank Butler. "A Tailor Made Man" was advertised to the screen by Albert Ray from the stage play by Harry James Smith. Joseph De Grasse is the director.

CAPITOL

The work of bringing the masterpieces of the stage within reach of every home, into communities never reached by stage performances, has another striking contribution in the translation to the world of the screen of the famous stage play, "Peg O' My Heart," in which Laurette Taylor made her memorable characterization of Peg which has become world-wide in fame.

"Peg O' My Heart," now a Metro picture, with Laurette Taylor appearing in her famous role, comes to the Capitol theater for two days beginning tonight. This fascinating tale of J. Hartley Manners' conception, with Ireland and England as the background, and the elfin ways and humors and pathos of the motherless little girl providing the main theme, has had 6,608 stage performances in the United States. Laurette Taylor created the role and has been identified with it ever since, even being known as Peg Taylor.

It's a tale of an Irish father and an English mother, of the Chichesters and Kingsworths, and of Sir Gerald Ashby, Peg's legal guardian, and of the circumstances, amusing as well as heart-stirring, that attend the young girl when she leaves the little Irish farmhouse where she was born and ventures among strangers to whom good form is the cardinal requirement.

As in the stage play, Miss Taylor has the assistance of Michael, the famous canine actress with the masculine name. Michael has been with Miss Taylor in all her performances of Peg.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT, NEWLYWED, TO HER FRIEND, BEATRICE GRIMSHAW

It is all so beautiful, dear Beatrice, that I almost hesitate to break the spell by writing even to you. I confess I was a little disappointed when I found that John had got his tickets for Niagara Falls. It seemed so commonplace. All bridal couples go there, you know, if they have the money. It seemed so surprised, however, that I would not want to do this conventional thing. I did not say much about it.

I am very glad we came, Bee. It is wonderful and not the least bit of my joy comes from the sight of other couples that I know are just as happy as John and I, other young men and women who are entering the same life.

Yesterday, when we were going down through the gorge, a little bit of a girl just in front of us nestled into the protecting arms of a splendid man beside her and, as he pulled her toward him with that air of possession which every woman loves, I found myself snuggling up to John.

There was something in the grandeur of the landscape, something so awesome in the overhanging rocks above us and in the rushing torrent below that I felt, as I knew the little boat in front of me, I was glad that I had someone beside me who could understand the feeling that all this sublimity of nature inspired.

You can imagine, however, how I was brought down to earth when John whispered in my ear, "I think those waffles we had this morning were the best I ever ate."

I began to understand immediately why mother was always so careful to have dad's meals on time and to prepare things that she knew he liked.

I guess, Bee, that after all marriage is more material than I thought. Don't think that I am unhappy. In fact, I am very, very happy. Already I have learned that the old adage, "The way to a man's love is through his stomach," is probably true.

Here comes my husband and I must close, signing myself for the first time,

LESLIE PRESCOTT.

DEAR LITTLE SISTER:

I hope when you are married you will come here. It is all so beautiful and we are so happy. John makes me wear your pearls all the time although they seem rather dressy to me. Am sending you a souvenir.

Lovingly,

LESLIE.

POOR OR RICH, GIRL SCOUTS MEET TO HELP BOTH

National Convention Will Take Up Training and Development Of American Girlhood

By NEA Service.

Washington, April 23.—Poor girl or rich girl—the needs of each will be discussed at the ninth annual convention of the National Council of Girl Scouts to be held here during the week of April 23.

Girls who come from homes that are troubled by financial difficulties probably will get the most consideration, but those who happily are born into families possessed with plenty have "difficulties" to which the scouts endeavor to correct.

The convention, which will be held at the Wardman Park hotel, will be preceded by a week of intensive training in scout leadership at the Manor club just outside of Norbeck, Maryland.

Representatives from almost every large city in the United States will be present. There are 250 councils in the organization, but in many smaller cities there are no organized councils, and many of this latter class of cities will be represented too.

In all 350,000 girls will be accounted for through delegates to the convention.

To Study Girl Life.

While the convention itself will be given over principally to discussion of the training and development of the leaders, directing the movements of their younger sisters, still attention will be paid to every phase of the life of the adolescent girl.

On the 23rd, two informal receptions will be tendered visiting delegates by the president and national officers, one at the home of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the secretary of commerce and the national president of the organization, and the other at the home of Mrs. Adolph Miller.

The day following business of the week will get under way in earnest. Addresses will be made by Mrs. Arthur Osgood Choate, New York City; Mrs. Frank D. Holland of Atlanta, Miss Caroline Lewis of White Plains, N. Y.; Mrs. James J. Starnes of Boston and Dean Sarah Louise Arnold, head of the education department.

LEAVE ON EXTENDED TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Brazier left this morning for an extended wedding trip to various points in the East. They will stop over enroute in Duluth, Minn., Chicago, Ill., Fort Wayne, Ind., Pittsburgh, Pa., Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D. C. In the latter place several weeks will be spent by them in visiting with Mr. Brazier's relatives and at his old home. While there they will make short excursions to Mount Vernon, Arlington, and Alexandria, Va. Enroute home they expect to stop in New York City, see Niagara Falls, and Philadelphia, Pa., and various other points. Mrs. Brazier was formerly Miss Ariel Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Anderson, and was a bride of the early spring.

LOCAL GIRL HONORED

A bulletin from Garland W. Powell, national director of the American Legion, received at the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, lists the winners of the essays in the recent nation-wide contest of the Legion, and gives for North Dakota Miss Barbara Register, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Register of Bismarck.

TO VISIT DAUGHTER

MODERN WOODMEN

The Modern Woodmen of America, Camp No. 4104 will meet at Brown & Jones Grocery store tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. The state and district deputies will be present at the meeting. All Woodmen are urged to be present.

LEADERS AT THE GIRL SCOUTS' CONVENTION

One of the most interesting topics to be discussed will be needs of scouts, according to geographical sections. Delegates from California, New York, Florida and Minnesota will tackle the question.

There are about 200 girl scout camps in the country, and some of the papers to be read will deal with possible improvement of these summer vacation places.

Another thing which is getting the serious thought of the scout executives is how leaders of the future may be developed, as it is thoroughly understood that the movement cannot continue to go forward unless real leaders are developed from the ranks of the scouts themselves.

On Thursday annual election will be held. Present incumbents are: Mrs. Herbert Hoover, president; Mrs. Arthur Osgood Choate, Mrs. Julius Rosengwald of Chicago, Mrs. E. M. Swift, Colorado Springs, and Mrs. William F. Sims, wife of the admiral, vice president; Mrs. Nicholas Brady, treasurer. Among those on the executive board are Mrs. Frederick Edey, Miss E. Gwan Martin and Mrs. W. E. Scudder.

Still a Girl

In bloom and beauty—due to clay

By Edna Wallace Hopper

After 32 years as a stage star, I look like a girl of 19. My complexion is as soft and rosy as a debutante's. My skin is as smooth and youthful as 40 years ago.

Now I have arranged so all who wish may employ the methods which did so much for me.

They have found some added factors which bring multiplied results. So the oldest users of crude, old-time clays will be amazed at this new clay.

Quick Quaker Oats cooks in 3 to 5 minutes as well as it cooks in an hour. No other oat flakes cook nearly so quickly.

Yet the flavor is identical with regular Quaker Oats. That super-flavor which comes from flaking the finest grains only.

In Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

POOR OR RICH, GIRL SCOUTS MEET TO HELP BOTH

National Convention Will Take Up Training and Development of American Girlhood

By NEA Service.

Washington, April 23.—Poor girl or rich girl—the needs of each will be discussed at the ninth annual convention of the National Council of Girl Scouts to be held here during the week of April 23.

Girls who come from homes that are troubled by financial difficulties probably will get the most consideration, but those who happily are born into families possessed with plenty have "difficulties" to which the scouts endeavor to correct.

The convention, which will be held at the Wardman Park hotel, will be preceded by a week of intensive training in scout leadership at the Manor club just outside of Norbeck, Maryland.

Representatives from almost every large city in the United States will be present. There are 250 councils in the organization, but in many smaller cities there are no organized councils, and many of this latter class of cities will be represented too.

In all 350,000 girls will be accounted for through delegates to the convention.

To Study Girl Life.

While the convention itself will be given over principally to a discussion of the training and development of the leaders directing the movements of their younger sisters, still attention will be paid to about every phase of the life of the adolescent girl.

On the 23rd, two informal receptions will be tendered visiting delegates by the president and national officers, one at the home of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the secretary of commerce and the national president of the organization, and the other at the home of Mrs. Adolph Miller.

The day following business of the week will get under way in earnest.

Addresses will be made by Mrs. Arthur Osgood Choate, New York City; Mrs. Frank D. Holland of Atlanta; Miss Caroline Lewis of White Plains, N. Y.; Mrs. James J. Storrow of Boston and Dean Sarah Louise Arnold, head of the education department.

LEAVE ON EXTENDED TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Brazoroll left this morning for an extended wedding trip to various points in the East. They will stop over en route in Duluth, Minn., Chicago, Ill., Fort Wayne, Ind., Pittsburgh, Pa., Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D. C. In the latter place several weeks will be spent by them in visiting with Mr. Brazoroll's relatives and at his old home. While there they will make short excursions to Mount Vernon, Arlington, and Alexandria, Va. Enroute home they expect to stop in New York City, see Niagara Falls, and Philadelphia, Pa., and various other points.

LOCAL GIRL HONORED

Powell, national director of the American Legion, received at the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, lists the winners of the essays in the recent nation-wide contest of the Legion, and gives for North Dakota Miss Barbara Register, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Register of Bismarck.

TO VISIT DAUGHTER.

Mrs. H. C. Postlethwaite left yesterday, April 22, for Jamestown to visit with her daughter, Miss Margaret, who is attending Jamestown college. Mrs. Postlethwaite will also attend the missionary meeting at Enderslin and Steele, returning at the end of the week.

Camp Problem.

One of the most interesting topics to be discussed will be needs of scouts, according to geographical sections. Delegates from California, New York, Florida and Minnesota will tackle the question.

There are about 200 girl scout camps in the country, and some of the papers to be read will deal with possible improvement of these summer vacation places.

Another thing which is getting the serious thought of the scout executives is how leaders of the future may be developed, as it is thoroughly understood that the movement cannot continue to go forward unless real leaders are developed from the ranks of the scouts themselves.

On Thursday annual election will be held. Present incumbents are: Mrs. Herbert Hoover, president; Mrs. Arthur Osgood Choate, Mrs. Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, Mrs. E. M. Swift, Colorado Springs, and Mrs. William F. Sims, wife of the admiral, vice president; Mrs. Nicholas Brady, treasurer. Among those on the executive board are Mrs. Frederick Edey, Miss E. Large Crowd Enjoys Karnival

Between 300 and 400 people attended the Karnival put on by the high school students Saturday night for the purpose of raising funds for the athletic association and sending the musical contestants to the state meeting.

An estimated return of between $200 and $300 as a result of the show was made. This does not include expenses which were said to be light. The returns will be counted up this evening.

The Karnival included some really clever stunts, declared Principal V. H. De Bolt, and deserved a much bigger turn-out of the citizens than it got. Those who did not attend missed something worth while, he said, for it is unusual for a high school group of turn out the class of entertainment which they did in this instance.

All those taking part in it did excellent work, and learned much in the management of cooperative affairs.

The evening proved to be a mirth provoker from beginning to end.

LAST REMARKS OF THE IOWA
"This being shot at is a novelty for me. In that I have the advantage of these big young ships that are going to finish me. I was first to see Tervera when he came out of the bottle at Santiago twenty-five years ago. I was first to fire at the Spaniards and I gave and took more than any other ship in our fleet.
"In this battle I can't shoot. I can run away, but that isn't my fancy. I'm glad old Bob Evans isn't here to see me run from these newfangled ships. He would want to turn my twelve inch guns against the sixteen of the Maryland and the fourteen of the Mississippi and have it out with anybody who shot at me.
"Well, they've been trying those fancy thin-walled projectiles on me and they won't do. Now the Mississippi is going to use the real thing at nine miles. My wireless steering outfit is broken and I'm glad of it. Flight is unbearable, even when it's for your country's good.
"Yes, it's the finish. I can hear the hand play and they're firing a salute. Twenty-one guns sounds good to a tired old battler, after all. And this Pacific water is warm; not as hot as it was at Santiago that third of July, but comfortable. Deep, too; seventy fathoms; nobody ever to bother me again.
"There's only one thing I regret about it all. I'm not flying the flag. But, of course, I couldn't, because they wouldn't shoot at me if the flag was there. Everybody has to make some sacrifices. This is for the good of the service.
"There's one of those airplanes buzzing overhead. Twenty-five years ago, when I was the fleet ship in the American navy, we never saw an airplane. And twenty-five years from now, when they take the Mississippi and the Maryland out to sea to use as guinea pigs, the airplane will be the boss of the ocean.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts

After Nick rescued the soldier from drowning in Bing-Bang Land, there was no fighting for a few days. It was necessary to wait until the wooden soldier, and tin soldiers had recovered.
The Tinker Man was very busy in his hospital. I tell you, what with plugging in wounds with bits of new wood for soldiering them with lead, if the wounded soldier happened to be made of tin, instead of wood, and gluing on arms and legs and even heads. And painting! You should have seen the amount of paint he used up.
The soldier in Bing-Bang Land, once wounded, had to go to bed with their clothes on and every single one of them from General Gold Brand down had to have a new uniform painted on when he was ready to go back to his regiment.
One by one, however, all the tin soldiers were cured, and even General Gold Brand was quite himself again.
"Now I won't have to be general any more," said Nick taking off his cocked hat and unbuckling his sword.
"I'm ever so much obliged for generating for me while I was away," said General Gold Brand, "and I should like you to stay with the army. What do you prefer?"
"I'd like to be an aviator," said Nick quickly.
"Well, I declare!" cried the Tinker Man, "I've never heard of that." "Why, we declared," said all the soldiers, standing near.
"What are you all declaring about?" asked Nick in surprise.
"We never thought of such a thing!" answered the Tinker Man. "There isn't such a thing as an airplane in Bing-Bang Land. We forgot about them. I'll send a telegram to my brother, the Toy Maker, at once to ship us two brand new ones. One for the wooden soldiers and the other for the tin soldier. You may run whichever one you like!"

The commendable work of various cities of the state was referred to, such as our sister city of Mandan, with its beautiful park recently developed, and where the Heart river is to be utilized, by means of a dam, to provide swimming, boating, and below the dam, wading ponds.
Parks in Other Cities.
Jamestown's surprisingly elaborate park system was referred to as one of the big things being done in the state. Dickinson, too, with its unique hill of rock, now so successfully planted with native types of evergreen; a thing of wonderful beauty and of possibility for the future. Fargo was cited as an instance of forwardness on the part of their park board in securing large tracts for small amounts and attention was drawn to the fact that, as a purely business proposition, without considering the primary benefit of enjoyment, the Fargo park cities have become ten times their original value, in their improvement since coming into the city park system.
Minot, with the most ambitious park plan of any in the state of North Dakota, came in for enthusiastic commendation by the speaker. Particular mention was made of their delightful swimming pool, with its natural island in the center, covered with shade trees, and its beloved "Zoo" with its bear caves, etc.
Judge Christianson urged that all possible interest in the matter of

FARMERS' LEGISLATION

If legislation alone is the curative for all agricultural ills, agriculture in the Nation and in the Northwest should soon prosper. Almost every legislature in an agricultural state has devoted much time this past winter to farm matters, and agricultural credit legislation formed one of the big chapters in the history of the 66th Congress. Minnesota's legislature, just ended, added many laws designed to aid agriculture, to the statute books.

The Gopher legislature enacted a rural credits law designed to permit long-time loans on money secured through issuance of state bonds. Bills for co-operative farm and livestock marketing associations were enacted. The first and the one generally regarded as the more important is the so-called Sapiro plan—the plan followed by California fruit growers and Southern tobacco growers, modified to meet conditions in a grain-growing area. Its chief provision is a legally binding contract which requires the grower member to deliver his product to the marketing association if he has agreed to do so. This is intended to prevent outside firms from causing farmers to break away from a pooling plan by offering higher prices. The second co-operative bill is an amendment to the 1921 law permitting the organization of co-operative associations by those engaged in any line of business. A separate law permits the formation of livestock shipping associations, and they may sell stock in associations without interference by the state securities commission.

Dairy farmers secured a law prohibiting the manufacture of butter substitutes containing butterfat and other laws. Several joint resolutions were passed, including a memorial to Congress to return control of the South St. Paul livestock yards to Minnesota, and to modify federal Grain Grading regulations.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the agricultural legislation in Minnesota is that support was given to the principle of co-operative marketing, as contrasted with state socialism and state capitalism. A bill to establish state-owned elevators failed. Minnesota has made great strides in laying the way for co-operative marketing. The recent agreement of the principal farm organizations operating marketing pools in the Northwest is another indication of conviction upon the part of many students of farm problems that the way to more orderly marketing lies through the co-operative marketing route, where the success and the policy of the organizations will be controlled by the farmers.

DANCING CHAMPS

What is your private opinion of these girls who wear out several orchestras and a half dozen male partners apiece to get the title, "endurance dancing membership of the world"? It's an interesting but futile pursuit that will take its health toll later in the young dancers' lives. Over-exertion always presents its bill. And it always collects—in full.
Men run marathons, collapse at the end. The crowd cheers. No one thinks the runners are "cuckoo" for over-exerting.
Other men over-exert, contesting to see which can lift the heaviest weights or bend the thickest iron bar over the chest. Crazy? It's never suggested.
But when the girls come forth to demonstrate endurance, you hear people on all sides grunting and sniffling. Envious, perhaps. But more striking is the demonstration that what's sauce for the goose is not sauce for the gander.
This bit of psychology is evident all through life in its various ramifications. Man seems entitled to make almost any kind of a jackass of himself, without question. Woman, however, is quickly ridiculed.

There's just as much sense in endurance dancing as there is in long-distance running, weight lifting, auto racing—or even baseball, for that matter.
Doctors interested about the women dancers "wearing out" partner after partner, disagree as to whether it indicates that woman has more endurance than man. However, she has. When a man and his wife get into a run of bad luck, the wife nearly always is last to "throw the sponge." Often, of course, this is because she doesn't realize as thoroughly as her mate, the extent of the trouble they're facing.
Not one man in 10 could endure the anguish of childbirth without "giving up"—killing himself or getting drunk.

The endurance dancing craze started in England several months ago. First only a few dancers took it up. Then whole crowds caught the spirit. We'll probably have a repetition—people going in a mob to a continuous dance, trying to trip the light fantastic all night or longer.
Freak dancing waves come periodically. Epidemic insanity—social hysteria, as the psychologists call it. Europe in 1374 had a dancing craze that wound up with people dancing in the streets until they fell screaming and foaming at the mouth.
An Italian doctor decided that the dancing disease was due to the bite of a tarantula, large spider. On the theory of setting a fire to stop an advancing forest fire, he invented a dance which he prescribed to his patients—the tarantella dance. Confidentally, we believe that 24 hours of endurance dancing would cure us of dancing for all time.

WJZ
WJZ, the broadcasting station at Newark, J. J., will not broadcast any more copyrighted music. Royalties of $200 to $500 apiece are demanded by the authors, composers and publishers who own the copyrights. They organized recently, alarmed because radio is cutting down their sales of sheet music and phonograph records.
WJZ should broadcast the old-time stuff. It's better, and very popular—judging from the way it brings down the house in vaudeville. WJZ's action probably is the beginning of the end of radio jazz.

Today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday, the many local admirers of Charles Ray will have the opportunity of seeing him in what promises to be his masterpiece, if time, care, and a great story count for something; a cinema version of the intensely popular stage play, "A Tailor Made Man." For this is the costliest production Charles Ray has ever made, and is in keeping with his announced policy of two super-productions a year for United Artists. In fact, "A Tailor Made Man" is Ray's first screen play under his new alignment.

According to critics who previewed this photoplay, Charles Ray has been provided with a vehicle which allows him full scope for his ever-delightful humor, wit, and tenderness. "A Tailor Made Man" is said to rank with the highest achievements of the motion picture art.

The supporting cast is of all-star calibre, and includes such artists as Ethel Grandin, Jacqueline Logan, Thomas Ricketts, Douglas Gerard, Victor Potel, Thomas Jefferson, Stanton Heck, Edith Chapman, Kate Lester and Frank Butler.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT, NEWLYWED, TO HER FRIEND, BEATRICE GRIMSHAW

It is all so beautiful, dear Beatrice, that I almost hesitate to break the spell by writing even to you. I confess I was a little disappointed when I found that John had not his tickets for Niagara Falls. It seemed so commonplace. All bridal couples go there, you know, if they have the money. It seemed so surprised, however, that I would not want to do this conventional thing, I did not say much about it.
I am very glad we came, Bee. It is wonderful and not the least of my joy comes from the sight of other couples, that I know are just as happy as John and I, other young men and women who are entering the same life.
Yesterday, when we were going down through the gorge, a little bit of a girl just in front of us nestled into the protecting arms of a splendid man beside her and, as he pulled her toward him with that air of possession which every woman loves, I found myself snuggling up to John.
There was something in the grandeur of the landscape, something so awesome in the overhanging rocks above us and in the rushing torrent below that I felt, as I knew the little bride in front did, I was glad that I had someone beside me who could understand the feeling that all this sublimity of nature inspired.
You can imagine, however, how I was brought down to earth when John whispered in my ear, "I think those waffles we had this morning were the best I ever ate."

I began to understand immediately why mother was always so careful to have dad's meals on time and to prepare things that she knew he liked.

I guess, Bee, that after all marriage is more material than I thought. Don't think that I am unhappy. In fact, I am very, very happy. Already I have learned that the old adage, "The way to a man's love is through his stomach," is probably true.
Here comes my husband and I must close, signing myself for the first time,
LESLIE PRESCOTT.

Picture Postal, Showing Maid of the Mist, from Leslie Prescott to Her Sister, Alice Hamilton

DEAR LITTLE SISTER:
I hope when you are married you will come here. It is all so beautiful and we are so happy. John makes me wear your pearls all the time although they seem rather dressy to me. Am sending you a souvenir.
 Lovingly,
LESLIE.

Picture Postal, Showing Falls from Canadian Side, from Leslie Prescott to Her Mother, Mrs. John Graves Hamilton

I wonder if you, dear mother, enjoyed your bridal trip to Niagara Falls as much as John and I. Dad told me once that this was where you came when you ran away to be married. We are leaving today for a trip down the St. Lawrence to Montreal. Very happy. With love from both of us,
YOUR DAUGHTER AND SON.

mark sites he invoked now, at the present time, because of the very low price of real estate. This condition, the speaker explained, must soon change with the on-coming of better times after readjustment of war conditions. With property now practically at "rock bottom," no better opportunity may come to us.

Advantages of Plan.

By having a plan, first, last and all the time, the speaker asserted. The first necessity is a Park Commission, elected by the people. This Commission, to be effective, must be composed of men and women who will work with just one aim in view, namely the good of the people. They must be men and women who can think independently; see the need, and then find the way to accomplish, without fear of incurring the disapproval of some, or seeking favors of others. The speaker was insistent that a Park Commission must work for the good of the whole city in the one idea of parks, planting, etc.
In this connection, attention was called to the wisdom of the great men in the new capital city of Washington, when the greatest thinkers of the nation have ever known, did not depend on their own judgment alone, in the planning of their capital city, but called in an expert (the French engineer, Pierre Charles L'Enfant), so that the wide streets and splendid planting are a joy to the nation and to our visitors.

State Park Laws Specific.

The address was summarized at the close in a recommendation for a Park Commission, selection of sites, and to make a beginning now, for the benefit of the grand children and great grand children of the present junior high students and the consoling thought was left with his hearers, that the joy of the doing is the greatest reward after all. An illustration was aptly used, that when the great explorer, Fridtjof Nansen, was equipped one of his great expeditions, with its numberless exacting duties of supervision, he snatched time from all other requirements to attend to the planting of trees and shrubs on the grounds of his home—free that in all probability he might never see. He planted for the future, though spared to enjoy the development, and so must Bismarck do, if it is to become the beautiful capital city that all must wish it to be.

Judge Christianson reminded his hearers that the City Commission cannot acquire or develop parks, unless the state give the City Commission authority to levy taxes for the acquisition or development of parks; just as it is well known they may not levy for building of schools. The speaker referred to that point having come up in Bismarck when the tax levied by the City Commission for the swimming pool was set aside. This tax, if levied by a park commission, would have been sustained and the swimming pool constructed from such funds, and the people would not have been called on for contributions for the purpose. The court ruled that the law of the state does not so prescribe. A park commission, duly elected, may levy, buy, and direct parks under the law.

ANSWER WILL BE PUT UP TO CITY'S FANS

Proposal Is to Subscribe $5,000 Stock to Incorporate Baseball Association

START OUT TOMORROW

Bismarck fans will answer the question: "Do we want real baseball this year?" They will answer it in the next two days.

Several fans and business men met at luncheon at the Grand Pacific hotel at noon today to decide final action on the proposition.

It was decided to form a stock company to be known as the Bismarck Athletic association, with a capital stock of $5,000. It will take over the proposed Bismarck team in the four-team North Dakota league for this year. Certificates of stock will be issued, a board of directors elected by the stockholders, officers chosen, a playing manager engaged and everything run on a business basis.

Representatives of Jamestown, Minn. and Valley City will meet here Thursday to adopt a schedule and draw up articles for the Dakota League. Bismarck must be able to give her answer by that date.

J. C. Taylor of the International Harvester company agreed to take the leadership. He will be assisted in the organization of teams by Henry Duemeland, John A. Larson, R. A. Tracy, P. J. Meyer, V. M. Dresbach, Thomas Lee, Wm. Kontos, R. B. Louck and others.

The plan is to start teams out tomorrow and to be able to give the answer on Thursday that the league will be organized.

It is believed that with a well-balanced, four-team league, such as is proposed, playing under National association rules with league umpires, the four teams in the league can be virtually self-sustaining. The profits of the Dakota league teams last year were eaten up in the big traveling expenses. The season would be two months and a half.

The plan for the local team is being drawn upon lines suggested by experienced business men. The answer is to be up to all the baseball fans of the town.

"I was suffering from lumbago and my back was just full of aches and pains—so sore and stiff it would nearly kill me to bend over. "I often heard that Tanlac was a great blood purifier and system builder and now I know it is. The lumbago has gone away entirely, I can now bend over and straighten up as easy as a schoolboy, and I am as strong and energetic as I was in my twenties. MINOT GIRL, 5, IS VICTIM OF STREET FIRE

Lucille Rhud Dies; Pushed in Bonfire. She Said

Minot, April 23.—Injuries sustained late Saturday afternoon when she fell into a bonfire resulted fatally for 5-year-old Lucille Rhud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rhud of Minot, who died Sunday morning at a local hospital. The girl's hands, arms, face and upper portions of her body were badly burned by the flames.

"Daddy, I'm burning up," screamed the daughter as she rushed across the street from the bonfire to her home, her flaming clothing being fanned by the wind.

"The boys put me into the fire," the little girl exclaimed, her father said, when he questioned her as to how the accident happened.

Not until he carried the girl into the house and laid her on the bed did Mr. Rhud become aware of the fact that the victim of the accident was his own daughter.

HELPING THE DEALER TO SELL

Every manufacturer appreciates, in some degree, the importance of helping the retailer sell his product. And yet in many instances that degree is very small. It can hardly be compared in importance — so thinks a certain type of manufacturer — with selling the product to the dealer.

It is nothing short of a false assumption, unsound and untrustworthy, to think that merely stocking up the dealer with a product constitutes effective distribution. Effort of that kind, it is true, may dispose of a lot of goods, but it does not sell them. Unless the consumer comes in prepared or disposed to buy them they will remain on the shelf of the dealer, re-orders will be impossible, and the whole product will be a failure.

The safest alternative is for the manufacturer to create a consumer demand through Advertising. This will help the dealer move the goods, and then he will order more.

Advertising is as much a basic part of the business of the manufacturer of any specific trade-marked product as is production and distribution. It is not something that can be considered merely as an expense to be curtailed to the minimum. It is a creative influence which, more than any other thing after the merit of the product, determines the extent of the consumer demand.

Too often the manufacturer thinks of his advertising as a clever means of impressing the dealer with the desirability of stocking up with his goods, and he does enough to accomplish that effect, and then expects the dealer to move the goods. This is a mistaken use of advertising and it quickly reacts upon the manufacturer.

It is the business of the dealer to provide the goods which the public demand. He would be foolish to do otherwise, and would soon cease to be a dealer. It is the business of the manufacturer — meaning specifically, the manufacturer of a trade-marked article, or one that might be trade-marked—to create a consumer demand by means of Advertising.

WHEAT STEADY EARLY ON THE CHICAGO BOARD

Rains in Nebraska are Offset By Lower Ocean Tonnage

Chicago, April 23.—Rains in Nebraska and other parts of the winter crop belt have a downward tendency to wheat prices today during the early dealings. Lower quotations at Liverpool counted also as a bearish factor. On the other hand, smallness of the amount of wheat on ocean passage was a steadying influence, and so, likewise, was gossip that ice conditions would delay until May 8 or later the water route arrival of grain at Montreal. Opening prices, which ranged from one cent decline to one-eighth cent advance, with May, $1.24 to $1.24 1/2 and July, $1.21 1/2 to $1.22, were followed by a moderate setback all around and then something of a reaction.

WHEAT STEADY
EARLY ON THE
CHICAGO BOARD

Rains in Nebraska are Offset
By Lower Ocean
Tonnage

Chicago, April 23.—Rains in Nebraska and other parts of the winter crop belt gave a downward tendency to wheat prices today during the early dealings. Lower quotations at Liverpool counted also as a bearish factor. On the other hand, smallness of the amount of wheat on ocean passage was a steadying influence, and so, likewise, was gossip that ice conditions would delay until May 8 or later the water route arrival of grain at Montreal. Opening prices, which ranged from one cent decline to one-eighth cent advance, with May, $1.24 to $1.24½ and July, $1.21½ to $1.22, were followed by a moderate setback all around and then something of a reaction.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK.

Chicago, April 23.—Livestock receipts, Hog receipts, 54,000. Lightweights, 5 to 10 cents lower. Butchers uneven, 10 to 20 cents lower. Top, $8.30. Packing sows, 10 to 15 cents lower, pigs weak, 25 cents lower.

Cattle receipts, 22,000. Fairly active. Beef steers about steady. Killing quality rather plain. Run includes a liberal supply of half light yearlings. Choice yearlings and heavy steers comparatively scarce. Top matured steers, $10.15. Bulls, 10 cents higher. Veal calves tending lower. Other classes steady.

Sheep receipts, 19,000. Slow, strong to 25 cents higher. No woolled lambs sold early.

ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK.
So, St. Paul, April 23.—Cattle receipts, 2,200. Better offering beef steers, butcher cows and heifers, strong to higher. Others slow. Mostly steady. Common to good beef steers, $6.25 to 9. Fat she-cows, $4.50 to $8.25. Canners and cutters mostly, $2.75 to $3.75. Bologna bulls largely, $4 to $4.75. Good to choice stockers and feeders strong to slightly higher, others about steady.

Calves receipts, 900. Market around 25 cents lower. Lights largely, $7.25 to $7.50.

Hog receipts, 7,600. Market averaging about 25 cents lower. Top, $7.75. Packing sows mostly, $6.18 to 300 pound hogs, $7.50 to $7.75. Bulk pigs, $7.75.

Sheep receipts, 600. Market steady. No good or choice fat lambs. Best quotable around $14.25. Best few ewes, $8.75. Run included two double loads direct.

WALL PAPER PAINTING DECORATING

It isn't often one finds a ready-designed house that is adapted to as many different conditions as is the eight-room home shown here. It is equally good-looking with either its broad or its narrow side to the street, and so is suited for a narrow, a wide, or a corner lot. The living room, lighted from three sides, extends across the house and has a porch with lattices at each end. Generous size, practical wall spaces and a homelike hearth make the room inviting.

Large Dining Room

At the right of the fireplace a door admits to the dining room, which is a very unusual one. It is 13x21.8, the end which opens upon the porch being surrounded by casements so that it is a solarium.

Opposite this sunroom, the corners of the room are cut across, one by a wall, the other by a corner china closet that is very quaint and very useful.

French doors lead to the main stair hall, which is also directly accessible from the main porch and from every room on the first floor. This ease of communication between all the rooms is a strong point in favor of a house.

There is an excellent closet near the stair for wraps. When necessary, it may be used for clothes, in connection with the den which occupies a quiet, secluded corner.

The kitchen is only 10.2x10.4 but is well-equipped to take care of a great deal of work. Three casement windows are lined up along one side, above the sink. There is a built-in cupboard and ironing board and plenty of room for work table and range.

Supplementing it are a light rear entry where the refrigerator has a convenient, clean place; and a pantry between kitchen and dining room, where sink, two drainboards and a built-in cupboard suggest a handy place for dishwashing.

Above the living room is the main bedroom. It is 12.9x18.9 and is made especially attractive for four pairs of casements on three sides. Between the clothes closet and the built-in tray-case at one end of the room there is a seat under the window which is also an excellent receptacle for articles.

The other three bedrooms are also splendidly provided with closet space as well as drawer in the tiers of built-in trays. A permanent dressing table with adjustable mirrors in one room will captivate feminine hearts. Every bedroom has lots of light and air, and should be a place for refreshing sleep.

Roomy Linen Closet

The compact bathroom is just 5.6x5.8, and has a built-in tub. There is a good-sized linen closet in the hall.

A combination of stucco and clap-boards is effectively used on the exterior of this house. The overhang of the second story, with its supporting brackets, is especially good. One porch is given the effect of a pergola by its roof treatment. Lattices and small-paned casements are harmonious in line and add much to the appearance of the house.

SOME REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD BUILD

BECAUSE you are always in need of a home.
BECAUSE every dollar you pay out for a rented home represents just that much loss to you.
BECAUSE you take more interest in your OWN home.

BECAUSE you will have more prestige, be looked upon as a better citizen, have more influence in your city.
BECAUSE the more you build up the city the less the taxes will be, they will spread thinner.
BECAUSE you will save money by putting it into your home, your property, — not the other fellow's.
